PARADISE LUST

Your photo-feature of "Sylvie! Paradise Lust," you bet. She would be a paradise to have. Congratulations on your layout of her. Not only does she contain some of the most beautiful forms a female can possess; she is also one of the best HUSTLER has ever had. She is so exotic and beautiful, I sweat in pain and pleasure to dream of having someone like her. Her eyes, hair and body say it all! Again, congratulations on capturing a true beauty. More!

AIDING READERS

I'm glad to see that there is someone in the publishing business that is still looking out for his fellowman. I have been reading other magazines and other coverage of AIDS-related stories, but they weren't telling me everything I wanted to know. At least now I will have the true, scientific news and other developments.

I'm looking forward to reading the AIDSWatch column every month, but keep us die-hard readers in the know about other means of safe sex. Sooner or later there has to be an end to this nightmare that has everyone wondering who or what's next. We need to be made more aware of what's going on and, in the process, learn not to fuck anything that says yes. I think the "Safe Sex" article by Teresa Kern was one of the best since the AIDS scare began. If other people would understand what the outcome could be, they might think about the AIDS dilemma before it hits home.

SAVORING SHAUNA

I've been a regular reader for about two years. I work full-time and attend school part-time, but I still make time in my busy schedule to read HUSTLER. You all deserve a compliment on the quality of your magazine. I've seen some of your competitors, and I've got to say, they don't come anywhere close to your high standards. Your models are beautiful, and your photographers manage to pose them just the way I like to see them. The article in the December '87 issue on Colleen Applegate (aka Shauna Grant) revealed a lot of important facts surrounding the circumstances of her death. I had seen the PBS Frontline program, but the HUSTLER article filled me in on facts that PBS failed to mention. If you keep the articles as informative and well-written as the Applegate story, I'll never stop buying HUSTLER.

—J. S. S.
Irving, Texas

Longer ago than I care to remember, I was a photographer for a couple of years,

Sylvie: Paradise Lust

employed by an individual who produced 8-mm black-and-white stags that were furnished for bachelor parties all across America. As such, I got to know a few of the women involved, not just as models, but as real people who laugh, cry and pick their noses when no one is looking—just like your wife or girlfriend. The result has been that I have a hard time looking at your photo-layouts, or a hot video, without realizing that these are real people and not just sex objects, which takes a lot of fun out of watching. And I guess that is why I was so moved by the article on Colleen Applegate (December '87). In my opinion, you are to be commended for printing a story which provides some insight for your readers about the real problems of a real woman caught up in the drug scene, which all too often accompanies the so-called porn business—and, indeed, the entertainment industry at large.

—J. R.
LaCrosse, Wisconsin

ICONOCLAST'S BLAST

Howdy! I was at first sorry to hear that Nancy Reagan had to get herself a tittectomy. But then it occurred to me—when I thought of all the good women who each year have to get one of their knockers chopped off—that it couldn't have happened to a nicer slut. I know that's cruel, but what the hell, it's almost Christmas, and this may be the only thing us poor folks get this year. Oh, by the way, Peter Holm is indeed an asshole (November '87 Asshole of the Month), but then so are all those slimy women who've been doing this sort of thing to men for years. Let us never forget, folks, they started it. And in closing, I am a white guy, but I would enjoy seeing more minorities in HUSTLER—and not just in Beaver Hunt either.

M. A. S.
Columbus, Ohio

LIMITED IDEALS

I work in a convenience store where we sell your trash, along with the others, and I noticed that on your last issue, on the front cover, there was a line about women's ideals. Maybe you idiots should buy a dictionary and learn to spell correctly: It's not ideals; it's ideas. Of course, I don't expect that where you people are going after you die, that it will really matter if you know how to spell. You are poisoning the minds of others. There is so much beauty in the world, and it doesn't come from the pages of your magazine.

—Paul D. Wernich Jr.
Houma, Louisiana

Our Webster's lists both ideas and ideals. Maybe you should get a dictionary with all the words; then your mind wouldn't be so small.

TROPHY SHOTS

I have enjoyed your magazine for years, but most of all, I've come to drool over

Beaver Hunt each and every month. So far I've collected all six volumes of the BEST OF BEAVER HUNT, and I would like to know when the next issue is due out on the stands. I would also like to let Dianna, the 42-year-old housewife from Ennis, Texas (October '87 Beaver Hunt), know that my girlfriend and I both think she's a gorgeous knockout. She has the nicest set of round tits, and a beautifully shaved snatch that really turns me on. I have always loved good-looking older women; my girlfriend of seven years is 40 years old, and 12 years older than me. If Dianna and her husband would ever like to get together, all they need to do is write.

Littlefield, Texas

Look for THE BEST OF BEAVER HUNT: VOLUME EIGHT, on sale January 26, 1988.

A PERFECT DATE

First of all, I just want to say that when I opened the January '88 issue of HUSTLER to page 4, seeing Keisha in the HUSTLER calendar ad with those perfect tits hanging out made me want to blow my load all over them. I've never seen Keisha look so delicious. Keisha is the perfect female with the perfect body. Her hips, those perfect nipples and those great legs are absolutely the best. Please—now I'm begging—please show more of that goddess, but this time spreading her legs and showing off that great body of hers. I just can't get enough of her gorgeous body and face—which is the most beautiful in porn. HUSTLER, you're number one for putting that picture in. Keep up the great work.

M. C. E.
Albany, New York

SATISFIED SENTIMENTS

Although I've been reading and buying HUSTLER for about six years now, I finally have a response to all the complaints I've read that have been printed in those six years. I'd like to tell everyone complaining about racial or religious jokes and cartoons to just shut the fuck up. Anyone complaining about shocking photos knows what HUSTLER is all about when they pick it up; so fuck you too! Those of us that love HUSTLER may not even like 100% of the contents each month, but there is always something for everyone. Lovers of HUSTLER are the buyers of HUSTLER. The buyers of HUSTLER are all that matters. HUSTLER is as radical as it can legally be. You knew it when you opened it up. And if you aren't a close-minded dickhead, you'll think it is just great, like all us subscribers. I say "subscribers" because enclosed is my subscription order. HUSTLER is really great, and everything is absolutely perfect just the way it is.

FEET-NOMENON

About 100 years ago, when a sexy lady crossed her legs and tried on a new pair of fuck-me pumps, there was no such thing as a left shoe and a right shoe. Each shoe was rounded in the middle and tapered in the front. In fact, it was almost one size fits all; you were either a small, medium or large—the 12EE and 7AAA had yet to be invented. Love—even adoration—for the anatomy they clothed, however, had already existed for centuries.

Though no one knows exactly when foot worship came into vogue, ancient cultures, such as the Roman and Chinese, have left examples of foot art behind for thousands of years. Perhaps when men bowed to their queens and vied to sit “at her feet” as an act of servitude, the fetish came into its own. Bathing suits that hid all but a woman’s feet during the Victorian era might have focused sexual attention and longing to m’lady’s peds. Even Cinderella’s happy ending depended on the fit of a dainty glass slipper. Sherlock Holmes kept his pipe tobacco in a Persian slipper during an era when drinking from one was a sign of love to the woman who wore it. Even today, beach bums stare at women’s feet, getting satisfaction when the girls trip over the hot sand as if it were red-hot coals.

Regardless of its origins, foot worship is definitely here now. From boots with seven-inch stiletto heels to designer athletic shoes, society has taken a giant step forward in its reverence of feet, shoes, boots, stockings—even sweaty gym socks and the like.

Because many people are still as uptight as a new pair of shoes about their fetish, mail order is the simplest way to get material. Nonetheless, adult stores do carry much of this mer-

BY JONNY M. DUFFY

Many areas in the sexual world have remained hidden for too long behind the doors of fear, ignorance, inexperience and hypocrisy. In keeping with HUSTLER Magazine's belief that the repression of any and all sexual information is physically and emotionally damaging, we present this series of revealing articles to keep your sexual knowledge current, to lessen your inhibitions and—ultimately—to make you a much better lover.

Likewise, the subject of toenails stirs many strong opinions in the foot-loving community. Many demand “virgin” toenails, unsullied by polish, while others think this is about as exciting as a scrubbed woman without perfume or makeup. Long, slender toes or short, webbed digits; frail, fine feet or a stronger tread . . .

The list is endless—a fact confirmed by the publishers I’ve spoken with, though there is a common—if kinky—theme that runs through many of the fan letters these ped proponents write. “Oh! Her feet are so beautiful! If I had my salt and pepper, I’d eat them right up!”—a sexual foot feast fit for a-kink!

Correspondence to foot fetish magazines, such as Kinque, published by Platinum, doesn’t confine itself to letters alone, however. Editors are bombarded by close-up snapshots of chandise. One in particular, Spartacus, specializes in nothing but shoes and boots. Besides its own stores in Fountain Valley and Los Angeles, California, Spartacus also publishes a catalog. Versatile Fashions of Garden Grove, California, also has a large variety of footwear, as well as a selection of magazines and videos for the avid foot fan.

Foot worship, like sex in general, has many sides to it. Just as some men prefer the well-rounded, bountiful bosom while others favor petite, perky paps, the foot worshipper also has definite likes and dislikes. No two devotees are alike.

While clean feet may be appealing to the masses, many slaves prefer to lick their mistresses’ dirty, smelly feet—especially after she has gone barefoot all day. The pungent odor of sweat and the blackness of the soles is like manna to them. Then there are those who are partial to beat-up sneakers, possibly with toe holes gaping open.

THESE SEX STIMULATORS MAKE THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN ROUTINE PLEASURE AND A FAR-OUT EXPERIENCE THAT'S ABSOLUTELY NOVEL!

SEX PLAY

women's feet (often exposing their pussy as well) sent in for possible publication, even though these self-same women would shrink from mailing the Polaroids to HUSTLER Beaver Hunt. One man, a transvestite, annually sends the publishers dozens of photographs of himself wearing women's moccasins or, conversely, masturbating himself to climax using one.

Another devoted customer spent years and years clipping from fashion and movie-star magazines photographs where the feet (often bare) could be clearly seen. He mounted thousands of these pictures in over a dozen photo albums, then shipped half of them to Platinum. "Thanks for all the great work you've done," he told them. "Keep this as your reward."

In fact, everyone wants to get in on the action, including the staff of Kinque magazine. In keeping with its topic, a few years ago the publication displayed the feet—instead of the usual head shots—of their staff on its masthead.

An especially popular theme expounded by foot-loving fanatics are long lists of celebrities whose feet they want to see bare, to worship themselves or rate as to how ticklish they might be.

But whether the feet are famous or not, foot tickling is a major fantasy, though hardly a modern-day invention. As psychologist Havelock Ellis recounts in his book Psychology of Sex, "In 18th-century Russia the czarina retained official foot ticklers whose duty was to give the empress pleasure by tickling her feet while telling wanton stories and singing obscene songs."

And while m'lady is getting her bare soles tickled, mightn't she be inclined to run away? Foot bondage, another current obsession originating in ancient history, takes this theme to heart. Occasionally a woman's feet are confined, sometimes in a pillory, but often simply bound, assuring the worshipper unimpeded access to his idol.

The love of feet easily spills over onto stockings, garters, socks and the like. Many small companies—like VI NOYA, P.O. Box 10143, Burbank, CA 91510—offer these personal ped items for as little as $10 to collectors.

And collect they do! Many devotees collect hundreds of pairs of women's stockings and shoes. Men even have been arrested for stealing these (and only these) items after breaking into people's homes.

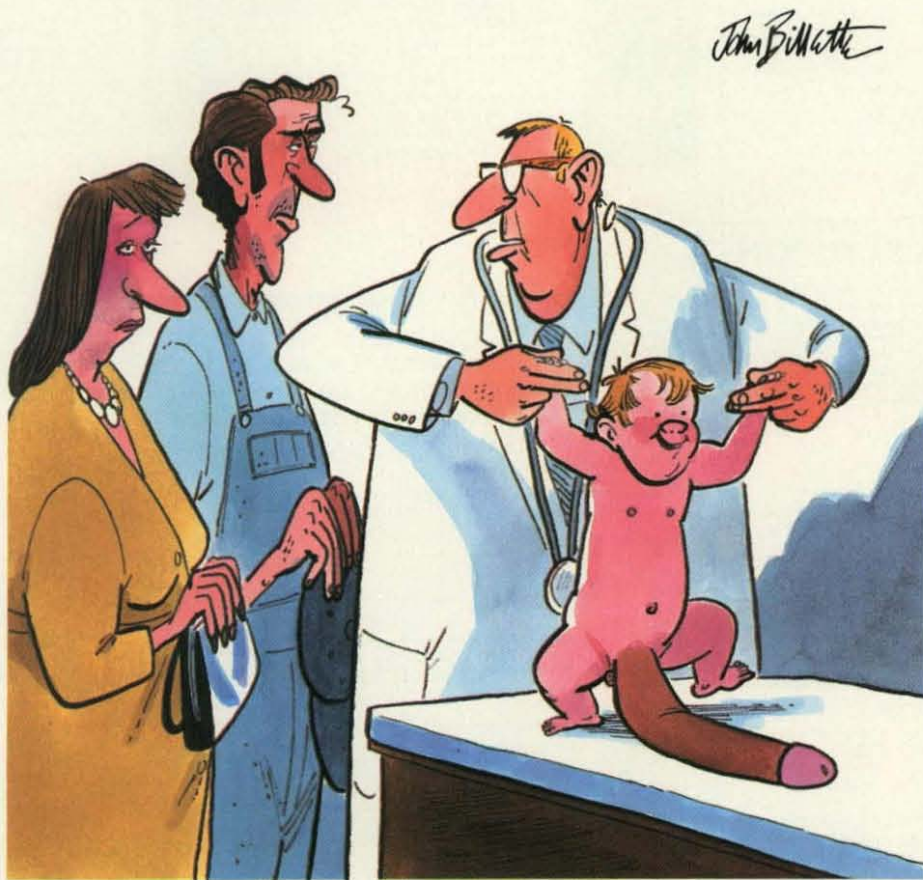

The very definition of the word "fetish" means to focus sexual attention onto a specific part of the body or to an object. While some foot lovers only enjoy nibbling and sucking toes, for example, many more enjoy a good shoe before a screw. The fact that it is worn, that it came in contact with and even hid from view a beloved part of the body lends it a nearly cosmic significance.

A major company pioneering in materials related to foot worship is Platinum, filling the world's footlocker with the lion's share of magazines and videos. According to their editors, letters from customers indicate so many nuances within the framework of "feet," it is impossible to satisfy everyone all the time.

Nevertheless, sales have climbed steadily since the first issue of Foot Worship magazine appeared about five years ago. At the time, they had difficulty giving it away. Today it is a sought-after collector's item, and almost one dozen follow-up volumes have been printed, along with many other titles, plus numerous videos. Magazines such as Footworship, Footplay and Footlights sell for $7 each, and 30-minute videos such as Foot Mistress, Lesbian Foot Lovers and Mistress of Tickle sell for $49.95. These may be obtained by writing to Platinum, 4521-A Van Nuys Blvd., Suite 215H, Sherman Oaks, CA 91403, including your signature stating you are over 21, plus $2 per item for postage and handling. Send $3 and receive a year's worth of brochures.

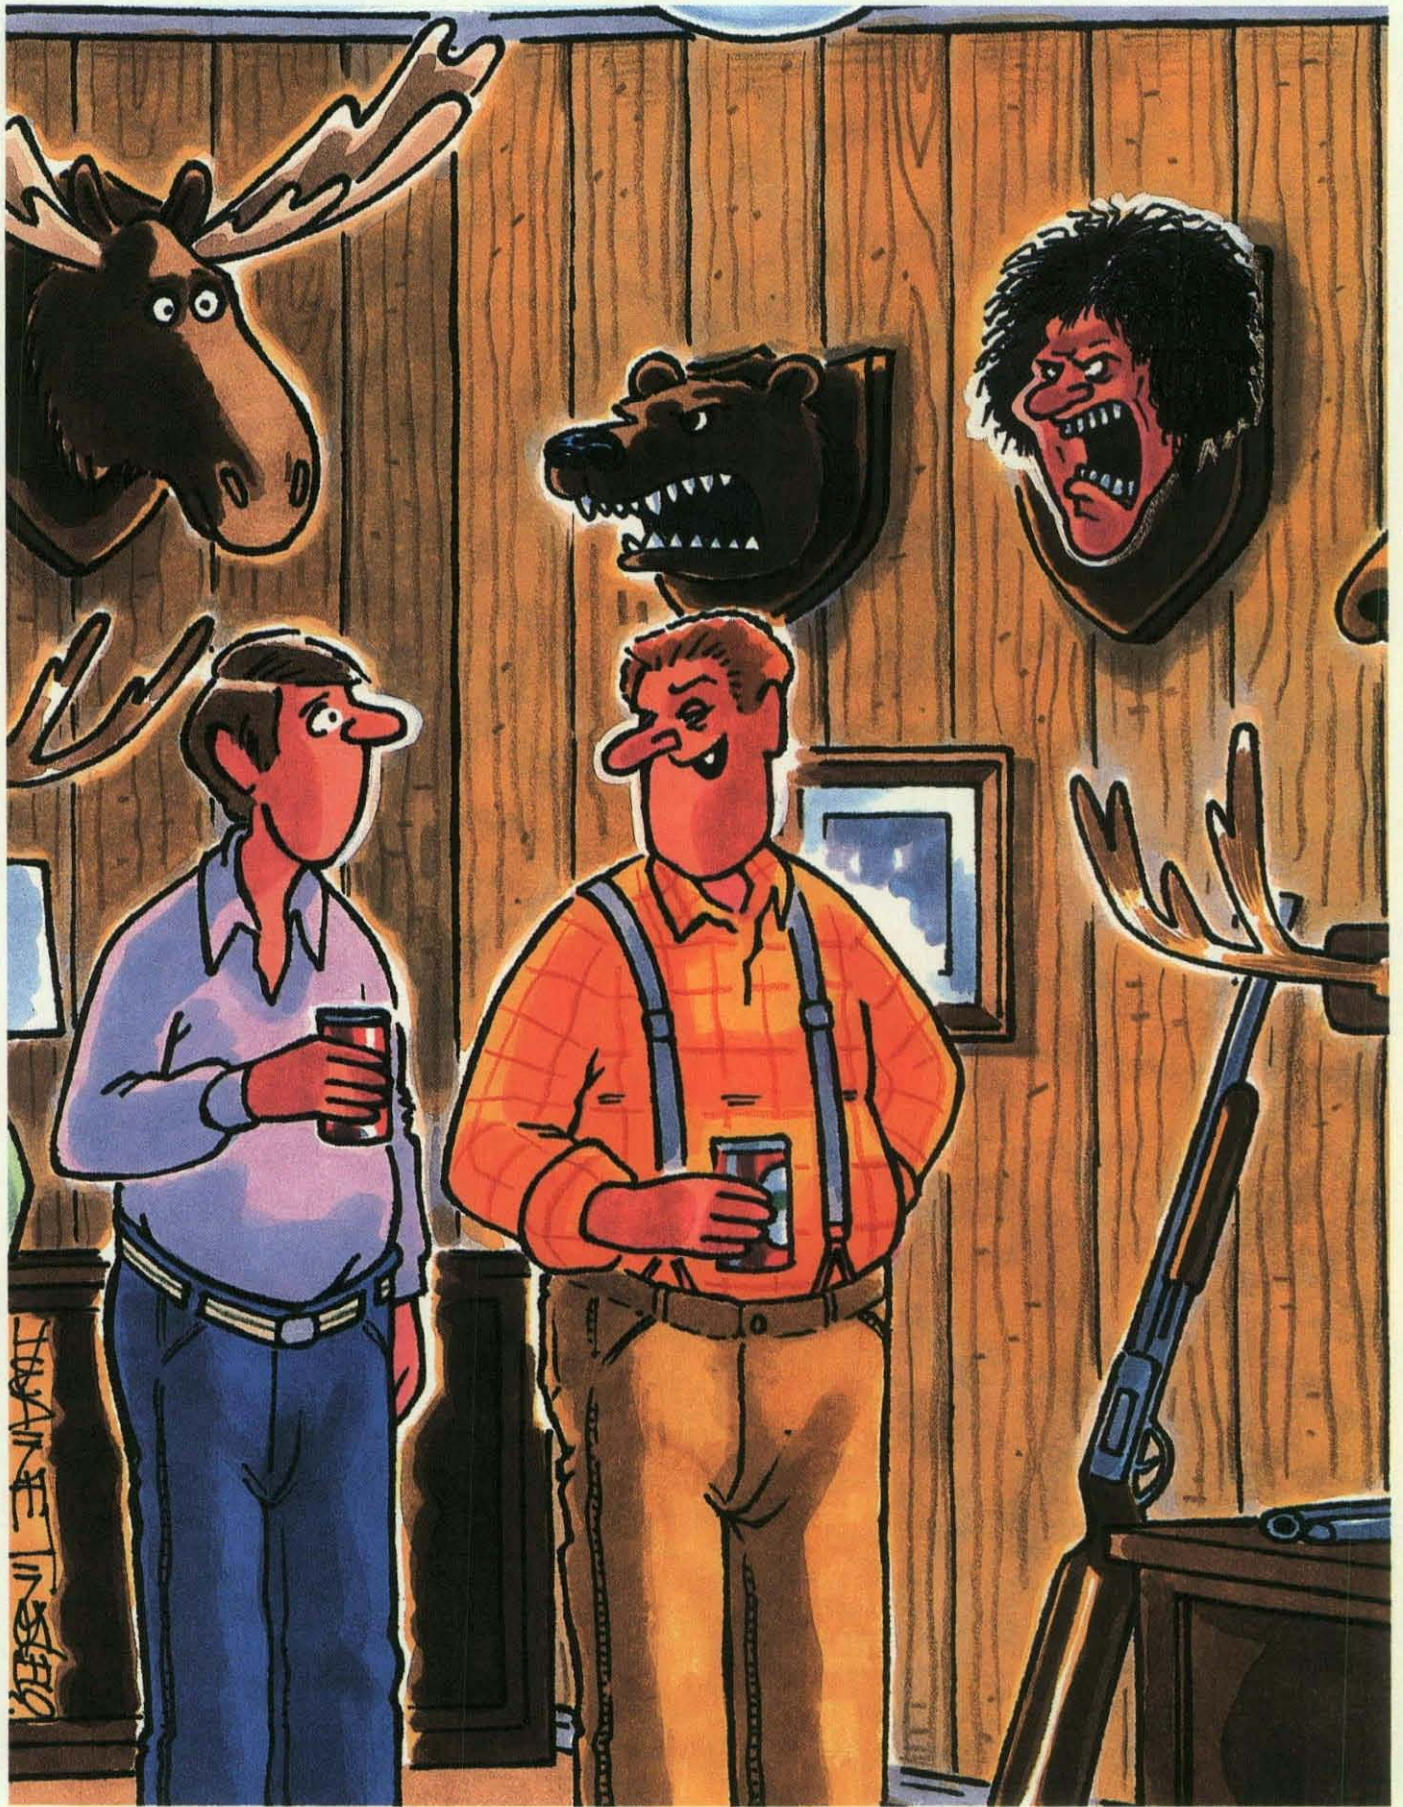

In the late '80s, foot worship is shaping up to be the number-one fetish in the country. "Among the parts specified as the most admired in the opposite sex by young men and women answering a questionnaire, the feet came in fourth—after hair, eyes, and stature," Havelock Ellis confirms.

In this era of "safe sex," foot play requires no sexual or dangerous bodily contact, eliminating the risk of AIDS, herpes, venereal warts, et. al. Further, since foot magazines and videos do not contain any hard-core action, censorship-happy authorities seem to be, for the moment, leaving this fetish alone. Many people outside the foot-loving free-for-all consider the fetish harmless and even humorous. Devotees, however, smile knowingly. For them sex isn't complete without a pair of pretty peds to look at, suckle and adore. Even the toes offer ten good reasons to be satisfied. That's why today more people are putting their best foot forward.

"In medical terms we call this the 'nigger-in-the-woodpile' syndrome!"

"That? It's my ex-mother-in-law. Took six shots to bring the ferocious bitch down!"

WHACKIN' IN THE RAIN

For as long as I can remember, I've always harbored a secret fetish: I love to watch girls urinate. Just the very sight of a hot, wet stream of golden urine flowing out of some broad's gash gets me harder than anything I've ever experienced.

Recently Gayle, my wife's best friend, gave me an opportunity for pee-peaking by accident one night. I'd been playing out in the backyard with our dog when a light flicked on in the bathroom. Having nothing better to do, I crept up silently toward the bathroom window and peered through the slightly opened curtain, hoping for a glimpse of Gayle.

Our toilet was situated in such a fashion that it provided me with a clear view of Gayle's urine spurting out of her opened cunt. Now, I was not only getting to see a cunt—other than my wife's—but this one was actually urinating right in front of my face. I couldn't suppress the loud, clearly audible gasp that escaped my throat. Gayle's head shot up at the sound, but even though it was pitch-dark outside, she called out my name, swearing that she'd get even with me for spying on her in the bathroom.

Though Gayle stayed angry at me, nothing consequential happened for the next three days or so. Then one evening, while I was taking a bath, Gayle and my wife Sherry decided that it was time for the payback. I was 18 at the time. Gayle was 19, and Sherry had just turned 20. Both of them were gorgeous girls: Gayle a sultry brunette with tits as big as world globes, and Sherry a pink-cheeked, freckled, blond-maned lass with a face that caused most guys' pulses to quicken.

Anyway, the three of us stayed at home one night while Gayle's husband attended a get-together at the local VFW hall. I was just finishing my bath when suddenly the door swung open and both of the girls ran in, clad only in the babydoll nighties they were so fond of. Neither had on any panties.

"Okay, wise guy," Gayle said as she perched one leg on the edge of the bathtub, giving me a full view of her spread pussy, "if you're so fond of watching girls piss, then you should love this."

With that, my wife's pal let go, sending her yellow spray right into my unsuspecting face. Mortified, I half arose, but Gayle pushed me back down into the tub as she continued to send her golden stream into my face and onto my chest. Though I was infuriated and shocked at this humiliating treatment, I loved the sensuous feel of the warm liquid that poured forth out of my naughty neighbor's hot little dark-haired slit.

Sherry stood in the bathroom doorway, laughing hysterically. My wife's haughty guffaws added even more embarrassment to the humiliation I'd already experienced from her best friend. I tried to get up again, but once more Gayle pushed me back down to a sitting position as her stream of golden piss finally dried up.

Both girls were laughing now as I sat there in the tub, stewing, maddened beyond words as Gayle's urine dripped degradingly from my face, chest and erect nipples. Sherry was really enjoying this. Gayle was laughing so hard that I was finally able to push her foot back and rise to my feet inside the half-filled tub.

They thought me quite hilarious, but the sight of my body standing there, dripping and naked, really turned the girls on. Then I noticed Sherry's eyes suddenly widen. She was staring at my crotch for several seconds before she gasped. Gayle soon looked down as well and began mimicking Sherry's expression.

When I finally looked down, I saw that my pecker wasn't only as hard as a baseball bat; it was also swollen to twice its normal size. Never had I been so utterly turned-on—and I hadn't even realized it!

"You're really perverted," the little woman snapped. "You actually like getting pissed on!"

My pecker twitched in acknowledgment of her remark. Sherry stared at my erect dong, apparently fascinated by its wet, shining hardness.

"Here, little man," Sherry spoke up, stepping forward and pulling her nightie from her shoulders, exposing her gloriously nude body to me. "Since you love it so much, have some more piss."

As my wife came toward me, I suddenly slipped, landing hard on my butt, with a huge splash. This was just fine with her, as she stepped into the tub and planted one foot on either side of me.

With her platinum-haired cunt spread directly above my face, Sherry let go with her own golden stream, splashing her urine right into my astonished face. I was still concentrating on my wife's golden pubes and was not prepared when she let fly, her spray of secretions catching me right in the middle of my upturned face.

With the gushing flow of her hot piss flooding down right into my opened mouth, I got my first taste of a girl's urine—a taste which made my cock twitch and swell with even more turgid hardness.

To my embarrassment, I was totally unable to close my mouth, nor did I really want to, as Sherry's hot, salty pee tasted fabulously sexy: My young cock was throbbing wildly while my better half's urine filled my mouth, forcing me to swallow to keep from choking.

"He's drinking it!" Gayle gasped in mock horror as she stood idly by, her own bare snatch still dripping the remains of her recent golden shower. "The little weirdo actually likes getting pissed on!"

Gayle had spoken the words that I myself was too ashamed to say: Being pissed on had been the most sexually exciting event of my entire life.

Unable to control myself by this time and no longer caring, I grasped my rock-hard boner in my right fist and started whacking away with a fury. Both of the girls were fascinated by this activity. It was now my turn to entertain them.

Both of the girls watched in awe as I stroked my purple pole, unashamedly beating my meat right before their very first right in Gayle's left eye, then against her lips. My third spurt got her in the other eye while all of my subsequent cum-blasts soaked the rest of her face, her hair, her naked tits and her tummy. She was more plastered with my semen than I had been with her piss.

I'd never had anything else to do with my wife's best friend after that one experience. But ever since that day, I've been overwhelmingly excited by a woman pissing, preferably upon my own naked flesh. I've paid many a prostitute premium fees for the pleasure of having them fill my mouth with their warm urine.

I've yet to find a girl who shares my fondness for golden showers, but I'm still looking. Perhaps someday I'll be fortunate enough to find one with the brains discovered that she enjoys doing it while donning negligees as much as I do. I turned her on to this kind of fucking, and now she can't get enough of me.

Last weekend we had made plans to spend Saturday night together in her apartment. When I arrived, Sandy greeted me at the door, wearing a cute green teddy. The way her tits were almost falling out of that thing, I knew she must have done some tailoring to the garment.

But before I get to the goods, let me tell you about Sandy. She is a 33-year-old divorcee who wears her jet-black hair loose around her shoulders. Her shape is almost perfect, with a little extra padding to cushion me when I am pile-driving her. Sandy has a beautiful face, highlighted by bright-green eyes. She likes to stare at me with those green orbs when I am slamming the salami into her.

Getting back to my story, Sandy greeted me at the door, wearing only a teddy, her big boobs spilling out of the cut-down bra top. I wrapped my strong arms around her waist, and we kissed as the door closed behind me. I immediately began feeling my sexy older woman up. I loved the way the soft material of her lingerie felt between her skin and my fingers. We broke long enough to get to the sofa, where we returned to each other's arms. I massaged her body all around the soft teddy.

I grabbed the material around her heavy breasts, and she responded by moaning into my mouth. I circled her nipples through the soft satin. I could feel the love buttons grow hard, and I went down, kissing them through the clothing. I could taste the perfume she wore. It was sweet, sensuous musk.

Sandy was really worked up. She was running her long fingernails through my hair as I tongued and bit her nipples. I massaged her cunt with my right hand. I could feel her crack through the filmy texture of the teddy, as well as the bikini panties my lover wore underneath.

I worked the material tightly into her crotch until she was very wet. Sandy was so wet that she soaked right through the clothes, onto my diddling digits. I kissed and nibbled my way down to her sopping crotch. I could smell her juices now.

When I reached her aromatic—though still-clad—pussy, I did not hesitate to go down on her. I kissed and licked the stained satin, and I could taste Sandy's sex through the two layers of cloth. She settled back, allowing me to eat her this way. This gorgeous older woman humped my face to an orgasm as I licked eyes. A shimmering droplet of pre-cum escaped the tip of my pecker, which was enough to send Sherry shrieking from the room. Gayle soon followed suit and left me standing there all alone—naked, with my hard-on in my piss-drenched hand—though a minute later she reentered the bathroom to watch me masturbate.

I finally tossed my head back, feeling my balls contracting as that familiar surge began within my loins. My hand was like the wings of a hummingbird now as I whipped my steaming poker with all of my might.

When I came, it was like a flood of white-hot vengeance. My jism splattered to realize that there are far more pleasurable things to do with that marvelous amber liquid than to flush it away. —J. Y. Dubuque, Iowa

BLOOMER BOFF

I'm writing to tell HUSTLER readers about my wonderful fetish. That's what I like to call it, but sometimes girls will call it a hang-up. I like my girls to wear fancy lingerie. But that's not all; I like to fuck them while they are wearing their sensuous underthings.

Recently I had a really wild time with this older woman named Sandy, who also my way around the leg band. Then my tongue found its target! I swirled my tastebuds around her hard clit, bringing Sandy to another intense orgasm.

I came up to let Sandy taste herself on my face. She was very turned-on by licking her cunt juice from my sex-soaked features.

My cock was now about to explode. I wanted to put myself into position so that I could slide my throbbing blue-veiner around the leg band of her panties, into Sandy's slit. I took her hand, placing it on my stiff stalk, and she guided me into her steaming hole.

Sandy had the tightest pussy I had ever experienced. The snugness actually prolonged my impending orgasm. I shoved, Sandy bucked and my cock head slid into her tight twat.

I looked down at Sandy to see that she was smiling up at me with those bright-green eyes. I smiled and shoved some more of myself into her tight, hot hole.

As I fucked myself into erotic oblivion, I could feel the soft material of her teddy and panties rubbing against the shaft of my cock. I again glanced at her. Sandy looked so hot and sexy in the provocative underwear, I knew I was in heaven!

I leaned down and sucked on one of those big jugs through the material. Sandy took a melon out and offered me a ripe nipple to suckle. The vision of a woman with one breast out of her teddy and the other tit barely concealed while I fucked her pussy really made me crazy! I sucked and nibbled the freed tit while

Sandy ran her fingers through my hair. We bucked in rhythm for what seemed like an eternity.

I left her well-endowed chest to get up on my knees in order to increase my penetration. I was getting really close now, for I could feel the cum building up in my balls. I knew that I was getting ready to come, and I wanted to have a really long, drawn-out orgasm.

I slammed my cock into Sandy, prompting her to buck with each thrust. With one tit hanging out of her teddy and myself really bouncing now with each thrust, I closed my eyes and gave a terrific yell as I began to shoot my load into her clenching cunt.

Sandy really knew how to milk the seed out of me. Her tight cunt kept a fistlike grip around my pulsating cock.

Sandy always fucks me with some kind of sexy undergarment on. I love her, for the sex seems to be getting better and more creative all the time.

ASSHOLE OF THE MONTH

For trying to use the loopholes in child protection laws to obtain and keep a child he eventually beat to death, Joel Steinberg is Asshole of the Month.

Obviously, it's easy to pick on a hemorrhoidal crap drain who beat to death a six-year-old girl he claimed was his daughter, or would leave a toddler tied to a chair surrounded by piles of shit nearly indistinguishable from Steinberg himself. What we hope becomes obvious is the need for serious review of child protection laws and investigative procedures, as well as judicial attitudes.

As a criminal attorney, Steinberg ought to have been aware of the difficulties had by human service agencies, law enforcement personnel, and medical and school officials in demonstrating a case of child endangerment. The abusive coward would at least have been aware of the court's attitude, defending the rights of the "family," a concept so nobly promoted by such hypocrites as Ronald Reagan—more than slightly estranged from his first wife's children—or another scum lawyer like Edwin Meese.

Even when presented with acknowledged evidence that shows a child is endangered, courts often prefer to maintain the family unit with judicial demands for parental reform. Of course, with any gray legal area, some innocent parents have been wrongly accused, but that's hardly as tough to take as the kind of neglect and mistreatment that leads to at least 2,000 child abuse deaths each year.

Compounding the problem is that the act is so disgusting that many people choose to ignore that it happens, or tell themselves it's just the old Judeo-Christian rod being applied.

Unfortunately, the good neighbors who repeatedly heard sounds—including the alleged beatings of Steinberg's common-law wife—called police or social service agencies, only for them to be unable to find "adequate evidence" of harm. In other cases, they might be bound to accept parental explanations—a fall, fight with brother, etc. No doubt the cop who carried Lisa Steinberg's naked, comatose body from the West Side shithole shares his colleagues' view that reporting and investigative limits in child abuse cases are far too restrictive. Anyone who's been in a fight and tried to tell a cop he fell down the stairs got away with it, right? It's hard to bullshit the boys in blue.

A lot of bullshit passes for laws, but bullshit doesn't have teeth. And laws without bite allow for sewer rats like Steinberg, who apparently never officially adopted either of the children in his care. The survivor was returned to his natural mother, but Lisa went home only to be buried in the family plot.

HUSTLER broke ground in 1977 with a shocking exposé of the child abuse mess, written by the nation's leading authority. The legal and social conditions and attitudes outlined then haven't changed—only the number of known child abuse cases has risen—to 2.2 million a year. If a nation can be incensed by the philandering of a politician, then this incident should make us demand improved child protection legislation and realistic court attitudes to plug forever dung hatches like Joel Steinberg.

Bar Flies

Now you know where the little buggers go when they really want to get shitfaced. Since they tend to hang out in populated areas, these inebriated insects had best avoid getting too buzzed, or they'll wind up completely smashed. The more violent drunks often meet up with the SWAT team.

Menstrual Cycle

A hardassed scooter tramp doesn't have time to pull over just because she feels her period coming on. That's why the Two-Wheeler's Tampon is a popular cotton pony among road mamas who bleed like butchered hogs. Now your old lady can drag, even when she's on the rag.

The Brain-Death Review

At last, there's a magazine for readers with flat-line readouts. In addition to one-sided interviews, the latest info on muscle deterioration and a vegetable centerfold, Lifeless also features extra-large type and an absorbent paper stock suitable for lining bedpans. Naturally, the magazine has minimal circulation, but then so do its subscribers.

Soup to Nuts

The political power-mongers' appetites are enormous, we are told, and even at $1,000-a-plate campaign dinners—alas, for someone else's campaign—certain savage hungers can't be tamed. Although he's opted for companionship less likely to sell movie rights to the evening events, something about her fear of silverware seems to say a lot of hot air has already passed between them. Nearly as easy as an NYU grad, she has him wondering only one thing: Can he reduce the size of his donation if they pass on the rice course?

PARODY: Politician's head on our model's body. Not to be taken seriously.

Exhibit X

Jeffrey Michelson holds an adult, educated, sophisticated view of sexual imagery and has already shown his respect for hard-core by cofounding Puritan magazine. More recently, Michelson got closer to his goal of presenting graphic sex images as gallery exhibits with the publication of Artcore (Graphic Arts Press, 2040 Polk St., San Francisco, CA 94109). Boasting the hefty subtitle Contemporary Masterpieces of Explicit Photographic & Literary

Erotica, the coffee-table tome boils down to more than 250 classy full-color photographs (most of them far more explicit than those on this page) plus three strange stories, one by Norman Mailer. As a reward to HUSTLER readers who share his appreciation for the finer things in sex, Michelson has dropped the price on this handsomely produced visual extravaganza from the usual $65 to a special $39.95, plus $2.50 p&h. Be sure to mention HUSTLER for your special rate on a book you'll take care not to get the pages stuck together.

Bush Pins

Unsightly strands of pubic hair can make an innocent trip to the beach a nightmare of embarrassment. That's when bush pins come in handy. Just apply a few clips and bows, and the guys will all be shouting "Tres chic" instead of "Oh, gross!" It's the latest Polish fashion, following their equally successful trend of women not wearing heavy stockings with their work boots.

He Was Dressed for It

It should come as no surprise that one of the dress-wearing religious fanatics known as Catholic priests finally got a physique to match his usual daily attire of long dresses. Father Paolo admits he wore women's clothing under his priestly frocks (who could tell?) and then went under the knife for transexual surgery. The Pope's problem is that once a priest is ordained, he—er, she?—is always a priest, church law states. Aside from a female Pope a few hundred years ago, the church hasn't faced a problem with a pastor with a pussy, even one who admits he hasn't had sex with either sex—or as either sex. Well, see why religion is such a confusing issue?

That's Entertainment!

If you think American television is sleazy, you should check out the TV entertainment in France. There, erotic game shows have become all the rage. On Sexy Follies, each time a contestant answers a question correctly, he or she wins the privilege of removing an article of clothing, right down to the underwear. C'est Lui gets even more physical, as blindfolded, nearly naked couples attempt to find their correct partners in a large group of people, using touch alone. Oooh la la! Now, why the hell can't our U.S. networks think as creatively as that?

Fountain of Youth

City officials in Jacksonville, Florida, thought they were cleaning up the town when they banned topless dancing in establishments that serve alcohol, but Warren Colazzo, owner of Fantasy World, knew better. Colazzo complied with the new rules, switching to soft drinks while maintaining the nude bumping and grinding his patrons had come to expect. Soon the place was filled with teenagers who, due to liquor laws, were unable to attend Colazzo's club before. Sure enough, the city council fine-tuned the decency laws to prohibit minors from topless bars, but a sizable crowd of 18-to-21-year-olds still pack Fantasy World—something they could not do if alcohol was being served.

Most Tasteless Cartoon

Fucking with Nature, Part II

The wife of a Henderson County man has told Lexington, Kentucky, police that her husband had sex with 11 chickens, resulting in the birds' untimely deaths. Authorities have charged James D. Webb, 67, with crimes against nature and have ordered a psychological examination for the suspect. To prove her claims, Webb's wife presented the county courthouse with one of the dead hens, and signed an affidavit supporting her charges. The local crime lab has the unenviable task of investigating the results of Webb's alleged nature pranks, but it's not the first time they've had to look into a little fowl play.

EROTIC ENTERTAINMENT

With more than a thousand hard-core movies being released each year for the home audience, viewers, increasingly confronted by seductive advertising and slick packaging, are often at a loss when it comes to selecting an X-rated tape worth watching. HUSTLER is committed to serious, no-bullshit criticism designed to accurately inform readers of XXX-cinema offerings, and to spur the adult-entertainment industry to better productions. Despite their drastic decline, there will always be adult theaters, and we'd never leave a film buff in the lurch: If a review says a production was shot on film, it's probably playing on a big screen somewhere—all you have to do is find it.

NIGHT SHIFT NURSES

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by John Leslie; starring Lois Ayres, Keisha, Sheena Horne, Bionca, Lynn Francis, D.J. Cone, Dana Dylan, Peter North, Steve Henessy, John Leslie, Josey Duvall, Siobhan Hunter and Joey Silvera. Videocassette by VCA Pictures.

Veteran porn stud John Leslie makes his directorial debut with this hospital-based hump-fest, and it gives every indication that he has a bright future behind the camera. Detailing one night in an erotic emergency ward, Nurses follows the oversexed staff on their raunchy rounds. The heat is on from the opening scene, in which janitor Steve Henessy (jumbo-jointed, though with the personality of a meatloaf) watches Joey Silvera trysting with Lynn Francis and Dana Dylan. When head nurse Lois Ayres spots Henessy ham-fisting his hump stick, this begins a mysterious rapport that culminates, five scenes later, with the Ayres/Henessy boning that closes the tape. In one of the film's strongest scenes Francis, Bionca and Sheena Horne are caught in a lez-fest by patient Peter North, and some healthy carnality ensues: Sheena sucks North's pole as it emerges from Bionca's box. Then North hammers Horne and delivers a trademark burst of bonelotion to Sheena's tits and Bionca's head. Such moments set Nurses well above the crowd. A bit of editing-room surgery might have made the flick perfect, but it's still plenty good for what ails you.

TRACI LORDS

WHERE IS SHE NOW?

So what's former-porn-queen-turned-ugly-scandal-bait Traci Lords up to these days? Those who have always admired the girl's acting abilities, as well as her more obvious assets, will be gratified to know that she's making her "legitimate" film debut for none other than Roger Corman—a giant step sideways, indeed. Traci will be starring in a Corman remake of his own semicult classic, 1957's Not of This Earth. The formidable Ms. Lords takes on the role originated by Beverly Garland, playing a squeaky-voiced woman threatened by vampires from outer space. If you just can't wait for this cinematic wonder, rumor has it you'll be able to get a quick fix of Traci every day with her upcoming "Jazzercise" workout tape, Warm Up With Traci. You've come a long way, baby.

THE SINS OF ANGEL KELLY

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by Perry Ross; starring Angel Kelly, Lois Ayres, Elle Rio, Brittany Stryker, Shanna McCullough, Randy West, Peter North, Mike Horner, Jerry Butler, Joey Silvera, John Leslie, Herschel Savage and Scott Irish. Videocassette by Fantasy Home Video.

Doctor Martin Luther King must have been talking about Angel Kelly when he made his famous "I have a wet dream . . ." speech. With her lean, curvy bod, Angel is one of the best black mattress-backs in the X-rated biz. Sins is a compilation featuring nine scenes lifted from five of Angel's Fantasy titles, with a fresh scene added to round out the package. None are true ball-burners, but all are passably provocative. Sins starts simmering with a pussy-power trio that would make anybody cream. Next up, Mike Horner compares and contrasts fair-skinned Shanna McCullough with Angel's ebony epidermis and proves beyond a shadow of a doubt that all beaver meat is, indeed, pink on the inside. Angel elsewhere gulps and grinds the gonads of numerous studs, and links the clips together as part of an idiotic interview that provides little insight into this black angel's personality. Does it matter? The sins are this tape's true subject, and they're far from deadly.

A TASTE OF AMBROSIA

Shot on Video.

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by Candida Royalle and Veronica Hart; starring Jeanna Fine, Alexis Firestone, Rugby Rhodes and Randy Paul. Videocassette by Femme Distribution.

In this, the first of a series of somewhat softer porn vignettes produced by Candida Royalle and aimed mostly at the couples audience, the results are mixed. The first segment, "Nine Lives Hath My Love," is directed by Royalle. Jeanna Fine has to choose between lover Randy Paul and her cats—the slim story is fairly amusing, sort of a bargain basement Twilight Zone. There are two fuck scenes, with Fine her usual horny self. In keeping with the daintier imagery that the series wants to portray, you don't get throbbing close-ups of pink poles plunging into wet twats, just pretty much refined fucking. Still, Jeanna can raise a decent sperm count, even when being boned gingerly. The second fucklet, "The Pickup," is a completely different story. This rancid bore, directed by Hart, gives us ten minutes of Firestone and Rhodes showering and shampooing themselves—separately—before finally getting down to some lame coupling that could put a sailor on shore leave to sleep. This is eroticism at its nadir. A hit and miss make this Ambrosia taste bitter-sweet.

FOR LOVE AND MONEY

Shot on Video.

Totally Limp. Directed by F.J. Lincoln; starring Mindi Miller, Paul Thomas, Robert Ker-man, Lauren Michaels, Tony Rush, Sharronna Bonner, Darlene Beaumont, Gabriel Pontello, Jack Baker, Shirley Thompson, Jacques Merbeuf, Marilyn Jess and Jamie Kelly. Videocassette by Cal Vista.

If we do in fact live in a friendly universe, ruled over by a caring deity, then surely a so-called erotic film as bad as For Love and Money will never again be made. For Love and Money has everything the overexposed X-viewer has come to know and loathe: snail-like plot pacing, blowhard gibberish dialogue, nonplot, puke acting and an insulting level of idiocy throughout. Aside from the standard annoyances, groundbreaking director F.J. Lincoln has added a revolutionary innovation to this irredeemable excrement: no sex. That's right; this big-budget pic has sets, props, an ocean view—and perhaps five minutes of visible tittie. Nothing, no penetration, cock, pussy, ass—nothing—is shown below the waist. Are we expected to be aroused by two fully clothed people arguing on the telephone? If F.J. Lincoln and anyone else responsible for this steaming toilet stew were capable of making a mainstream movie, they'd be making mainstream movies. To top it off, this piece of shit is longer than your average turd, a tribute to the inflamed assholes who crapped it.

THE RISE OF THE ROMAN EMPRESS

Shot on Video.

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by Riccardo Schicchi; starring Cicciolina, John Holmes, Amber Lynn, Tracey Adams, Christoff Dubet, Judy Fantina, Brigitte Laval, Jean Paul Gasteau and Maria Longo. Videocassette by Paradise Visuals.

What, aside from Sicily, is Italian and has an IQ of six? Watch this Roman-made tape—as meagerly conceived, shot, edited, directed, dubbed and packaged as any third-rate domestic raunch—and the riddle will be easily solved. Only a nation capable of following Mussolini as emperor would elect porn slime Cicciolina to their version of parliament. In America, a Times Square promoter's desk-top gang-bang is the highest office to which she could aspire. Alas, the vagaries of Italian politics have resulted in this aged footage being foisted upon a public hungry for scandal and freak show. Accompanied by a vertiginous soundtrack, near-stationary long-distance camerawork and a ubiquitous white teddy bear, Cicciolina and John Holmes meander fecklessly through a plot that has the duo alleviating the mental illness of others through sexual prowess. The popularly acclaimed slut takes it in the ass, gets dual-played, and smears scuzz all over her ever-present, thoroughly insipid grin; but the bathtub piss scene is cut, as is a fleeting felch moment, and the Roman Empress falls flat.

INNER BLUES

Shot on Film.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Vincent Rossi; starring Taija Rae, Frankie Leigh, Jerry Butler, Viper, William Margold, Sharon Kane, Billy Dee, Tami Lee Curtis, Sunny Daye and Jonathon Lee. Videocassette by Vidco.

The cocksucking of Inner Blues, one of those increasingly rare shot-on-film erotic efforts, has a clarity, depth and wetness unachievable by today's video technology. The lip-smacking, tit-slurping and shaft-swabbing will give even a portable TV a big-screen illusion, especially during Viper's quick mouth-and-hand gland work on Jerry Butler, and when Billy Dee grabs Sharon Kane's head, forcing his rod deeper than she intended it to go. Taija Rae, slimmed down to fighting weight for this lead role, has only one hard dogging and mouth shot from Butler, and a dildo duel with Viper, whose shaven slot goes unshafted. Blues, with its plot of desperate lowlifes and the detestable scumbags they loathe, has long stretches of credible acting and even achieves a few instances of actual drama. Unfortunately, there is no sex in the film's closing scenes—only the prancing histrionics of a heavy-metal shaghead in tights—a good portion of the middle ballings are courtesy of generic porn folk, and many expenses were spared on sets, furnishings and nonfuck extras. Thus, Inner adds up to the same old porn blues: It could have been great, instead of just a contender. —C. S.

actress Bunny Bleu, who dominates this thoroughly subjugated slop, participating in all but the initial tepid gonadal teaming. It is necessary to point out that Bunny, though the star of this particular show, does not appear to be on the way up. Breathing is also unlikely to boost either of the other two girls involved to stardom, nor will it help the careers of any of the three guys, including forward-reverse banana-bend dick Chris Reed, whose fat cock smears gunk onto Bleu's curdled lips. Short-haired brunet tiny-tits Sandy Summers, whose monkey face is shown mostly from behind due to involuntary grimacing, looks as if she's eaten some bad clams as she fingers a tiny bit of cum into her mouth. Though most of the putzing is performed with moderate conviction, it adds up to only four cum-shots. Heavy Breathing is just a warm-up for light snoring. —C. S.

HEAVY BREATHING

Shot on Video.

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by Jack Genero; starring Bunny Bleu, Barbie Blake, Ray Hartin, Sandy Summers, Greg Derek and Chris Reed. Videocassette by Cal Vista.

Heavy Breathing is more than just another phone-sex movie. Sure, it has the standard screwing of a phone repairman as plot-point A, and its meandering verbal maunderings are extrarank, as befits the genre. But Breathing has the rare distinction of being a feature-vehicle for fine adult

THE HOUSE OF SEXUAL FANTASIES

Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by John Shubert; starring Ona Zee, Megan Leigh, Don Fernando, Derek Lake, Tiffanie Storm, Nina DePonca, Angel Kelly and Jonathon Lee. Videocassette by Collector's Video.

Demonstrating a willingness to go to any length in the pursuit of prurience, the intrepid smutmongers at Collector's Video trekked clear out to Battle Mountain, Nevada, a little piece of nowhere five hours northeast of Reno on Interstate 80, to shoot connecting segments in the bar areas of two legal brothels. (They were featured in the April '87 HUSTLER article "Cathouse Etiquette.") The bordello madam explains modern bawd procedure to a shy first-timer; her elucidative narration is punctuated by porn pros acting out various selections from the cathouse menu. All penetrant penises are condom-encased, with come-ready studs yanking off their scumbags before pitching their penile pearls. The only dork unsheathed at insertion is a larger-than-lifelike dildo that's slipped up the butt of a paying dude by his hired date. This mixed-gender couple climaxes riding a double-dong, which takes the high-kink honors from the preceding dungeon scene with shaved-cunt Ona Zee and two willing worms. The balance of the balling, relatively straight, is simmering to sizzling, with meltdown achieved by Don Fernando's schlong slobbering on slattern Tiffanie Storm, and Nina DePonca's caramel buns raised for a filling cooze drilling. At The House of Sexual Fantasies, the red light's on, and somebody's home.

ORAL MAJORITY IV

Shot on Video.

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by John T. Bone; starring Tom Byron, Samantha Strong, Amber Lynn, Paul Thomas, Kristara Barrington, Shanna McCullough, Careena Collins, Herschel Savage, Ron Jeremy, Siobhan Hunter, Tamara Longley and Bunny Bleu. Videocassette by Western Visuals.

Oral Majority—a compilation of the best oral scenes from the Western Visuals vaults—was a good idea. Unfortunately, turning it into a series was not. Western capo Jerome Tanner ran out of complete oral sex scenes somewhere in the middle of Majority II, and in order to perpetuate this sex tape species, he's been forced to splice oral foreplay together with postcoital wet shots. Over half the scenes here aren't oral scenes at all; so as a mouth-to-meat assemblage, OM IV falters. Moreover, this tribute to gland-gargling features a mere three cumshots. One, lifted from Living Doll, features Steve Drake being double-sucked by Shanna McCullough and Siobhan Hunter, after which he deposits his sputum stylishly in McCullough's mouth. In the only other notable jizz-on-visage juxtaposition, Samantha Strong—one of porn's prettiest faces—absolutely revels in a semen shower from Tom Byron. Sadly, in Majority IV this sort of high-caliber footage is definitely in the minority.

A tasty Barbara Dare sandwich from Roman Holiday.

BARBARA DARE'S ROMAN HOLIDAY

Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by F.J. Lincoln; starring Barbara Dare, Porsche Lynn, Joey Silvera, John Leslie, Marilyn Jess, Sharon Mitchell, Lisa Bella, Dani Herbelin, Robert Malone, Rocky Siffredy, Cristophe Clark, Valerie St. Cloud and F.J. Lincoln. Videocassette by Essex Video.

F.J. Lincoln, one of the most inconsistent directors in smut, has turned out a sizzler this time, though he would have been hard put to screw up a tape that headlines blue-screen beauties Barbara Dare and Porsche Lynn, both pistol-hot, vocal and athletic lovemakers. In the opener, Dare is hounded into humping by a satirical Sicilian (John Leslie). It's a straightforward showcase of Dare's potent sensuality. Porsche—a vision in scarlet gloves, garter, bra and panties—tears off a wild one with Continental cocksman Cristophe Clark that includes tit-fucking, a slam-bang standing fuck, wild monkey noises and a creamy splat on Lynn's lovely lingerie. A lesbian triad that includes Dare, Sharon Mitchell and a blond Euro-slit is hotter than the norm, and Joey Silvera's kitchen-counter slabbing of Franco-fox Marilyn Jess's hairy pussy also burns. In the tape's best scene, a double penetration by Silvera and Leslie on a petite and pretty European poon is wrapped up by an exquisite facial/oral splooge shot in slow motion. Holiday will have your roman candle blasting in no time.

MARDI GRAS PASSIONS

Shot on Film.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Ned Morehead; starring Taija Rae, Lois Ayres, Shanna McCullough, Dana Douglass, Jerry Butler, Tiffany, Billy Dee, Mike Horner, Angel Kelly and Jerry Heath. Videocassette by Vidco.

Passions: That's Jerry Butler boning Lois Ayres, behind the mask.

A decidedly strange, yet still erotic film, Mardi Gras Passions works in spite of itself. Looking like a somewhat less artsy Dark Brothers film, the weak storyline and repetitive visuals take a backseat to the heat Taija Rae and Lois Ayres generate. Taija, playing an LA girl going to New Orleans for Mardi Gras, gets things going on the plane in a mile-high cunt creaser with Mike Horner. Once in Cajun country, she falls prey to a bunch of voodoo mumbo jumbo, somehow brings Lois Ayres back to life, and watches as the beastly blonde burns down a mask-clad Jerry Butler in a riveting rod-ramming. Rae moves from one weird encounter to the next: a snake-dancing Shanna McCullough, a juicy muff munch with Angel Kelly and one of producer Kim Christy's trademark transsexual cameos. Here, she-he Tiffany closes the action in an almost surreal slo-mo suck-off with a confused Taija. While the sex is balls-eye for the most part, that doesn't excuse the excessive location shots of Taija walking around Bourbon Street—is this a fuck film or a travelogue? Still, for those who like their sex with a bit of kink and mystique, Mardi Gras is a compelling blend. —S. L.

HOT SPOT BARBII

While the old Traci Lords is off making space vampire movies, the gal who's being widely touted as "the new Traci Lords" is about to make a splash in the world of earthbound screen carnality. Barbii has already been featured prominently in the pages of this magazine, and by the time this issue sees print, she should be heating up home-video screens across the country. Her exclusive contract with Cinderella Video is responsible for introducing Barbii, Lusty Desires, Sex and the Happy Landlord, Backdoor to Hollywood, Barbii's Way and Spend the Holidays With Barbii. With her innocent face and bombshell body, Barbii should be looking ahead to a long and successful career in porndom.

GINGER SNAPS

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Starring Ginger Lynn, Gail Force, Kim Alexis, Joey Silvera, Herschel Savage, Tom Byron, Scott Irish and Nina Hartley. Videocassette by Vivid Video.

Yes, Ginger Lynn may have snapped, but she doesn't crackle or pop anymore, at least not in this thin, brittle carnal cookie. Aside from an inserted clip showing a threeway of yore, Lynn has no verifiable sex scenes with other people in Ginger Snaps. The lissome lass opens and closes the proceedings with teasing fondles of her own external genitalia, but Ginger-freaks everywhere will be disappointed that Lynn delivers no new sex scenes, nor hope of any to come. "I'm never going to have sex again," she swears at tape's end. Fortunately, her supporting cast takes an opposing view. Butter-flesh Gail Force works her twat twice, once with Joey Silvera and once with Tom Byron; Nina Hartley fucks and sucks Byron and Scott Irish both at once. Busty little bush Kim Alexis fingers her own hairy slot, scoring just as well as Ginger in the solo-sex sweepstakes, but the hottest set is Alexis teamed with Hartley. Nina straps on a dong and drills Kim—on her back, legs up, thumb on clit—a woman exulting in a man's job. Alexis recovers and, donning a plastic glove, smears lube on Nina's backside, triple-finger-fucking the tan-lined temptress. This handjob isn't as rod-rad as the preparatory lubing leads one to expect, but it's enough to keep this reviewer from crying. Total ripoff! —C. S.

MAGIC FINGERS

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by Scotty Fox; starring Rebecca Rage, Rachel Ashley, Rick Savage, Keisha, Allena Ferrari, David Morris and Nick Ferrara. Videocassette by Moonlight Entertainment.

In this unpretentious jape at TV melodramas, Rick Savage stars as a soap-opera scriptwriter whose word processor magically brings to life anything his fingers type into it. Savage's miracle digits first tap up chest-slung Rachel Ashley and streety, new-to-the-screen NY blonde Rebecca Rage, who scarf a beaver buffet, then vanish. Fingers' next enchanted moment has Rage mewling and howling as she's penis-plowed and topped off with a standard pop-up-from-behind cum-shot. The remaining four well-executed spells of sexing (two of flesh-rippling human waterbed Keisha) are primarily male-dominated straight fucks, with distaff interests surfacing fleetingly in a three-girl twat-pile on a lucky stiff. Unfortunately, except for one cameo cooze appearance, it's the same three cunts throughout, as well as the same three pricks, two of whom are NY Tony Danza clones. Hardcore hand-humpers may very well get off on this, but there's no real magic to that; it's just fingers.

While its title suggests otherwise, nothing (no location shots or UCLA reference) in Bitches of Westwood indicates that the action is taking place in a specific upscale LA suburb. The proceedings transpire in that la-la land of subreality that is the Kingdom of Scum, a world where plumbers always lay pipe into the lady of the house, where Billy Dee can portray a wealthy patron of the arts, where a rough parallel of a mainstream stinker poses as originality, where ill-trained actors spouting a script lacking high-priced wit lamely and at length mimic their legit counterparts, where cocksucker Sharon Kane strums a guitar and croons a theme song, which is reprised later, and where Henri Pachard can indulge himself in yet another cameo appearance. The only reason to visit the region of raunch, the country of cunt, is to witness streaming strands of schlong spume, and Bitches would be well worth the trip if John Leslie spouted off at the prick as much as he does from the mouth. There is abundant boning, including two orgies, Jon Martin's mayo-miring of Kane's raised cunt and rear hole, Alexa Parks (a Bunny Bleu without the burnout) capping a full-fledged fucking from Leslie by licking his sac as he jerks onto her mug, and Joey Silvera packing Parks' pork on a couch. The closing titles list a dialogue coach. Less coaches, more couches.

AIDS HYSTERIA

The Media Disease
by Gene Staples

Just about everyone in the world has heard of the AIDS "epidemic." The reason for its widespread fame lies less in its importance than in the media blitz this disease has received. Never has one particular subject gotten such media exposure, including wars, race riots, poverty, governmental scandals, nuclear fallout, etc. As of September 1987, this disease has killed about 23,884 people in the United States over an estimated seven-year period and an estimated 60,000 throughout the world. On the basis of those known figures, one poll showed that Americans rated AIDS over all other diseases as the nation's number-one health problem. For women, according to a survey by Glamour Magazine, AIDS topped the list of public concerns, outranking such long-standing problems as world peace and economy.

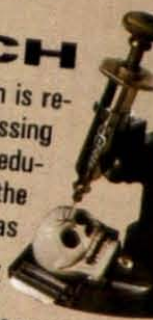

Anyone looking at the larger picture, actually examining the statistical data, has to wonder how AIDS came to be ranked ahead of every other problem Americans face. As a disease, it's not even ranked among the top ten leading causes of premature deaths. Of course, its real threat has little bearing on the hysteria surrounding this disease. Australia, with a population of 17 million, had 99 deaths from AIDS in 1985, one of them heterosexual, and the same degree of public concern exists. Certainly, something other than the statistical probability of risk is involved when a disease kills one heterosexual in a population of 17 million largely heterosexual people and is ranked as the number-one health problem.

AIDS WATCH

This month, the AIDSWatch column is replaced by a full-feature article addressing media coverage of this killer. As an educator, Gene Staples, Ph.D., realizes the importance of communicating ideas clearly and accurately. In this article, he examines the media presentation of AIDS information and how it influences our perceptions and actions. The goal of AIDSWatch is to promote open communication—free of politics and innuendo—about the disease in order to more quickly find solutions.

PANIC

AIDS HYSTERIA

Prostitutes have not been shown to be a significant source of AIDS infection to heterosexual men.

The public obsession with AIDS is all the more mystifying in the USA, a country that experiences almost 50,000 deaths a year from car accidents, most of them avoidable. This is the same country where homicide and suicide team up to claim 50,000 lives each year. On the same day that I read 12 AIDS-related articles in the daily newspaper, a brief article reported that as many as 5 million people died in 36 wars and armed conflicts around the world in 1986. Chances are that a high percentage of those people were killed with weapons sold by American arms merchants. Should we be panicked by a sexual disease that has taken 23,000 lives over a seven-year period and chalk up to human nature and communism the 100,000 deaths in one year from cars, murder and suicide or the 5 million deaths from wars in foreign lands?

AIDS is a serious health problem and, like any other health problem, should command all the resources necessary to fight its spread to a larger population. But the current media obsession may distract from the real targets of the disease. According to the Centers for Disease Control, less than 200 heterosexual Americans have acquired the AIDS disease by intercourse with others who do not belong to one of the risk groups (i.e., homosexuals or intravenous drug users). The fear of an AIDS epidemic among heterosexuals is unfounded in light of the difficulty in transmitting the disease among this group. In a study of AIDS-infected men who had sex with women, the women in the study faced only a one-in-1,000 chance of infection each time they had sexual contact with an infected man. Even repeated sexual contact with infected men produced the AIDS virus in only 23% of the women.

When confronted with these facts, AIDS researchers claim the AIDS virus could spread as rapidly through the heterosexual population as it has in the homosexual and drug culture. Yet, heterosexuals typically refrain from the type of commercialized sexual activity, such as bathhouses, that allowed the disease to spread so quickly among gay men. Prostitutes, who are overwhelmingly engaged in "safe sex," have not been shown to be a significant source of AIDS infection to heterosexual men. And, the heterosexual transmission that does exist has occurred almost exclusively among intravenous drug users, largely affecting impoverished blacks and Hispanics in Eastern slums. Since the average middle-class American, white or black, seldom has sexual contact with a black or Puerto Rican heroin addict, it's unlikely that a wide epidemic among heterosexuals will develop without a pool of people who are infected, and sexually connected, to propagate it.

The AIDS lobby has justified its hype of an epidemic of AIDS among heterosexuals by projections of an exponential multiplying of the virus in that group. Their projections are only as good as the underlying assumptions, simplifications and estimations that go into them. Since the presence of the virus can only be detected through a blood test which has a less than 90% accuracy rate, there is no way the projections could be based on a representative sample of the heterosexual population. Because there is no known way to sort out the heterosexual from the homosexual population, the drug abusers from the drug-free, there is also no way of determining who belongs to the major-risk groups except through self-reporting. Considering the consequences of being an admitted homosexual or heroin addict in this country, the lie factor may distort any findings about heterosexuals with the AIDS virus. Even the 200 heterosexuals outside the high-risk groups who have died from AIDS must be considered suspect.

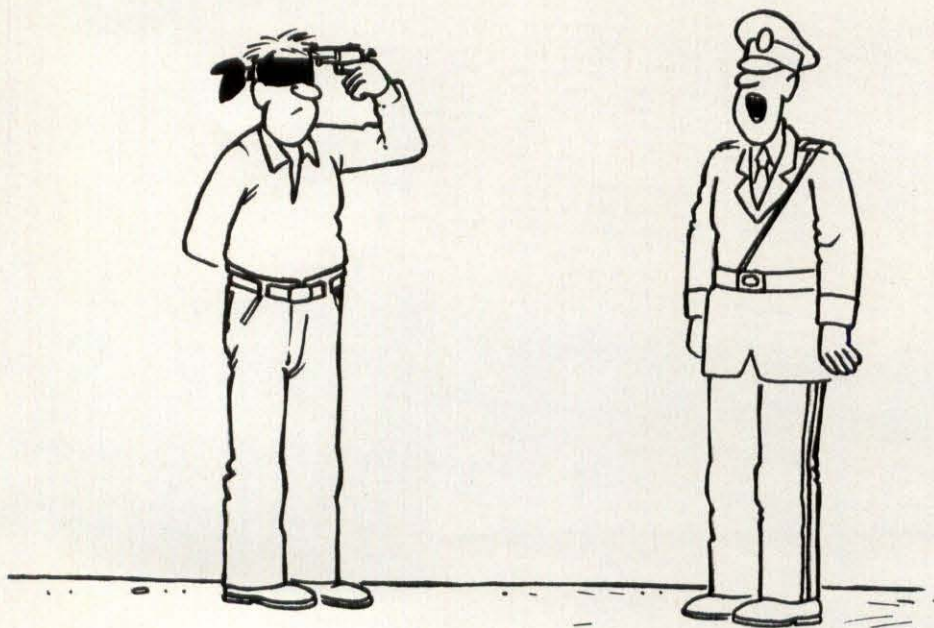

Many scientists and health officials admit that the national media has exaggerated the spread of AIDS among heterosexuals. Respected scientist Albert Sabin was provoked into speaking out against their hype, asserting, "The medical establishment's statement that AIDS is this country's number-one health problem is a gross misstatement and distortion. It does not exist among most of the American population and is confined to homosexuals, and drug abusers who use unsterilized needles."

But, the chief statistician for the Centers for Disease Control, Mead Morgan, says, "As far as we're concerned, the greater the fear the better. We are commissioned to stop the spread of this thing."

Privately, some researchers acknowledge that they've overplayed the AIDS threat, fearing that the national news media and the government wouldn't take the epidemic seriously as long as it was viewed exclusively as a problem for gays and drug users. The danger, of course, is that all the attention on heterosexual AIDS distracts attention from where the real threat lurks. In a bill to provide money for education, research and treatment of the fatal disease presented to a U.S. Senate committee, the legislation avoids any mention of homosexuals or bisexuals as groups at high risk for AIDS.

AIDS HYSTERIA (continued from page 32)

Typical of American society, motives other than the public interest are involved. In a country where citizens are becoming indifferent to government scandals, economic decline, and racial and class divisions, the media has found a compelling subject in the AIDS disease. Sex has always been a hot topic—combine it with disease, celebrities and politics, and you have a winner. In a country with an obsession with famous people, the death of actor Rock Hudson from AIDS brought national recognition to a disease largely ignored when only thousands of obscure male gays had died from it. A disproportionate concentration of AIDS cases in the media capitals of New York and Los Angeles has enhanced its chances of grabbing national attention. America's heartland has a small number of AIDS cases. More than 70% of all American AIDS cases are in five states: New York, California, Texas, Florida and New Jersey.

Other interest groups inadvertently arise in response to the AIDS hysteria—or at least it appears so on the surface. Gays believe society will treat the disease as a serious threat if the country believes it will affect heterosexuals. Members of the minority community may feel the government will make a serious effort to eliminate drugs from their midst if addicts are regarded as a serious source of AIDS propagation. Politicians will exploit the issue of AIDS in whichever way it will appeal to their constituencies. Liberals will demand money for education, research and treatment. Conservatives are demanding mandatory testing, an emphasis on sexual abstinence and confinement of infected individuals. AIDS hysteria provides commercial opportunities for selected businesses, including manufacturers of condoms and blood-testing kits.

Members of Fundamental religious groups see the equation of sexuality with disease and death as an affirmation of their views that only sex between married heterosexuals has the endorsement of God. The disease's preference for gays has been interpreted by some religious groups and their leaders as God's punishment for the "sin" of homosexuality. Most of them demand a return to sexual abstinence for all the unmarrieds and strict fidelity for married couples. Conversely, proponents of sex education in the schools have gained an entry to the education of young people that only the fear of massive heterosexual deaths has been able to accomplish.

Curiously, women may be perceived as an interest group that benefits from the hysteria surrounding the "epidemic" of heterosexual AIDS. One has to be struck by the anomaly of white, middle-class women being the most frightened of acquiring AIDS. Not only are 93% of the AIDS victims men, but of the heterosexual women with AIDS, 80% are racial minorities from inner-city neighborhoods. Yet, the fear and the campaigns for safe sex and education efforts seem to target middle-class white women, who probably number fewer than 300 of the 23,884 AIDS deaths in the United States.

Understandably, racial attitudes in this country would make it difficult to promote safe-sex practices if the educational programs were aimed primarily at lower-income black and Hispanic women. The conventional belief is that sexual promiscuity and drug use are strongly ingrained parts of those cultures. This begs the question of why the condom commercials are aimed at the white-female population. One facile answer has been that women have traditionally had the responsibility for birth control, and it is expected that they will be the enforcers of safe-sex practices. Certainly, that view is confirmed by reports that 70% of the condoms currently being sold are purchased by women.

A more realistic assessment, based on the persistence of the American double standard, is that it's men who most desire and initiate sex and women who are expected to exercise a negative control. Today it is women who set the conditions under which sex takes place. That condition increasingly requires the use of a condom. Typical of the female role in safe-sex practices is an education specialist's exhortation, "I tell women, 'If he ain't putting it in one [condom], you ain't giving him none.' And that's the bottom line."

The pervasive emphasis on male condom use ignores the strong resistance of many men to that measure. They feel it desensitizes the pleasure of sexual intercourse. Men who commit themselves to a monogamous relationship may avoid the use of condoms. The requirement of monogamy may be based on a genuine fear of AIDS, but the outcome is more favorable to women than to men, at least in terms of their desired goals.

In one sense, the AIDS hysteria has re-

Society has back-burnered the issues of racial and class division, poverty, unemployment, the homeless . . . .

While it is arguably better to err on the side of caution in dealing with the AIDS

The AIDS hysteria has impacted negatively on other groups. The number of incidents of physical or verbal violence against homosexuals more than doubled from 1985 to 1986. Various forms of discrimination against gay men are on the increase. At least white male homosexuals have the option of hiding their sexual preference. If the number of AIDS cases among blacks and Hispanics grows, and they become strongly associated with the disease, their high visibility will add to the discriminatory treatment they already face in American society. Worst of all may be the treatment of AIDS victims. The hysteria surrounding this disease has led to the denial of civil liberties for many of them and proposals to isolate them from

In the '80s, the dominant issues before the body politic have been moral concerns dealing with the individual's use of drugs, alcohol, tobacco and sex. At the same time, a growing gap in the income of the poor and the rich, a society that is increasingly segregated by race, and a foreign policy that contributes to the untold deaths of millions each year have been subordinated in the push to return Americans to an earlier era when people did not drink, smoke or enjoy sex. # Turn- ons of 1988

by Dale
Ashmun

It's Friday night again and way past midnight. Mr. Average Joe has just crawled into his apartment after a frustrating night cruising his neighborhood singles bar, where the last eight women reacted to his opening lines as if he'd had a skull and crossbones tattooed above his crotch. He wearily pops Mash My Melons Volume 6 into one of the only willing slots he's got access to, the one on his VCR. As he sinks into his favorite easy chair, he absentmindedly thumbs through the latest L.A. Star, then studiously scans the "personals." His fancy is captured by the come-on of: "Face Sitter! Generous men who desire the finest in outcall pleasures, call Melissa."

TURN-ONS OF 1988

"I come here at least once a week, and there's always an endless supply of worms to worship at my feet."

Average Joe dials the number, books a session with Melissa and curses the current state of paranoia pervading the bar scene, in the same breath thanking God he lives in a city where home-delivered face sitting can be ordered as easily as Chinese food, although at a considerably higher cost.

Average Joe, along with the rest of the world, has finally faced up to the sad truth for swingers: The sexual revolution is dead and gone. The Summer of Love is ancient history, and the disease that sounds like a weight-reducing candy is doing a brilliant job of literally scaring the "fuck" out of people.

Yet human beings, resourceful and horny species that they are, have picked up the challenge. People are adapting to the threat of AIDS and seeking out alternative turn-ons for 1988. As Americans relentlessly explore myriad methods of getting their rocks off, the joyful fact remains that their sex drives will not be denied. With that comforting thought as a guidepost, HUSTLER quizzed a sampling of sex-industry insiders, along with a few everyday pervs on the beat, in order to determine what turn-ons and trends are driving sexual libidos into the new year.

Fetish Freaks Focus on Feet . . .

"The big trend among our readers has been toward foot worship," explains Jonny M. Duffy, executive editor of Fetish Times, since 1983. "It's been the number-one fetish since I've been associated with the paper, and it's been growing steadily, slow but sure, over the past few years."

Based in Van Nuys, California, Fetish Times is the paper often referred to by loyal readers as "the bible of the fetish field."

"Fetish Times doesn't merely concentrate on the bondage or S&M scene. We bring a wide variety of subject matter to our readers," Duffy explains. "It's the only publication of its type that also prints reviews of magazines and videos, while presenting news items about various fetishes that are actual happenings."

A recent issue supports Duffy's claim, with features on spanking, enemas and amputee sex; a detailed review of Cat Nipped, a femme-fighting video complete with stills of two bra- and panty-clad nymphs biting, scratching and generally kicking the shit out of each other; and, in the letters column, a rhapsody by Jake T., extolling the farts of his big-assed wife: "The aroma varies depending on what she has eaten, but some farts are so juicy that the smell is overwhelming!" Thanks for sharing those thoughts, Jake.

Duffy believes the AIDS epidemic may eventually reduce the social bias currently aimed toward fetish behavior. "I'd venture to say that certain nonsexual acts that don't involve genital-to-genital contact are probably going to become more popular as the epidemic unfolds. Fetishists are coming more to the forefront. Fetishes that don't involve sexual intercourse are becoming more acceptable now because they are safer. You can't get AIDS from giving someone a spanking or licking someone's toes."

While fetish devotees around Los Angeles can often rely on the classified ads in Fetish Times to fulfill their desires, bondage enthusiasts in New York City have access to on-premises S&M clubs where they can act out their fantasies.

Paddles (140 West 24th Street) advertises itself as "the friendly S&M club," and most of the regulars who attend the spacious West Side loft avoid any real pain in their bondage games.

"We come here to relax and because Dom loves to serve me in public as well as in private," says Mistress Natalie, casually attired in a black-leather corset, sheer nylons and high-heeled boots.

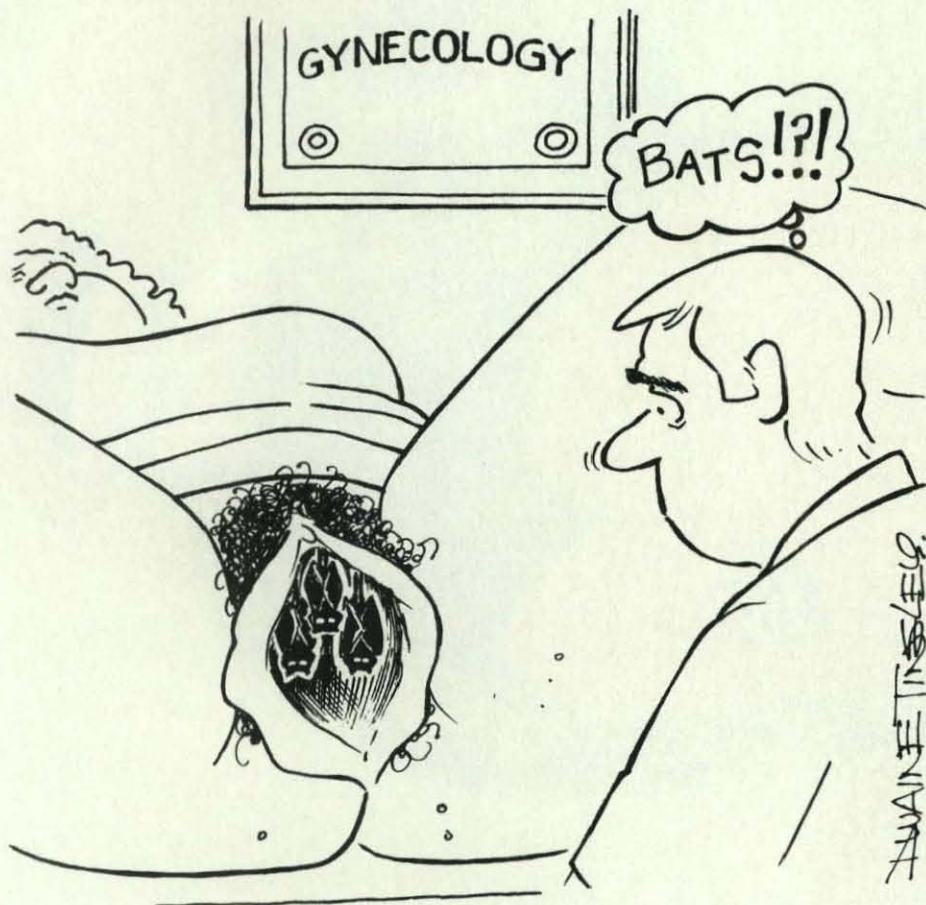

Her husband and "slave" Domenic kisses those boots reverently as Natalie describes how Paddles caters to her role as a bondage queen. "I come here at least once a week, and there's always an endless supply of worms to worship at my feet. Of course, my real kick comes from putting Dom through special trips in which he can prove his devotion to me."

Paddles seems to attract mainly a crowd of dominant females exercising their control over a crowd of cringing, submissive males. Lots of spanking goes on, and torture racks are set up for those who wish to taste the lash. Men pay between $15 and $20 cover charge at Paddles, while women are subject to a $5 fee.

In addition to a live S&M show every Thursday, Paddles also schedules a monthly calendar of special parties, which include slave auctions, spankers balls and the very popular "Weal of Fortune Game," in which contestants submit to the cruelties of "Banana White."

Breakthroughs in Self-Abuse

Observing the world of fetish behavior, one detects (especially among the bondage and discipline crowd) the absence of actual genital contact. The role-playing among fetishists resembles a form of mutual masturbation. Today, with the fear of AIDS rampant, jerking off has gained a new measure of acceptance as a safe expression of sexuality.

Doc Johnson Enterprises has been a leader in the manufacture and distribution of adult products for more than 20 years. Many of the products available through the company fall into the category of "masturbatory aids." About to join such best-sellers as their Anal Probe and the Manhandler, Doc Johnson has big plans for a new dildo due on the market in early 1988.

"We're excited about the realistic collection. It's a project that's been developed over the past three years, and it will revolutionize the dong and dildo community," the good doctor reveals. "It's so real that if your wife saw it, she might say goodbye to you!"

Doc Johnson Enterprises deals its wares exclusively through adult-book stores, mail-order houses and couples-oriented erotic boutiques, such as the Pleasure Chest. Their encyclopedic catalog of sex products offers such headings as "Dongs, Dildos & Butt Plugs," "Vibrators," "Electro Erotems," "Masturbators, Vaginas & Pumps" and that old standby, "Love Dolls."

"The inflatable-doll market continues to grow. We, however, don't manufacture these items," the Doc adds. "We distribute them. The makers keep trying to upgrade the quality. The only problem is, when you look at the face, you think you're in a horror film. Now, I'm just giving you my own opinion of love dolls. There are lots of lonely men and women out there, and dolls will always sell."

A Woman's Approach to Masturbation

"Most of us masturbate in a vacuum. We don't talk about it, we don't know what it looks like when other people do it and we don't know what other people are feeling when they masturbate," explains Betty Dodson, an artist and author whose work often focuses on self-eroticism.

Since 1973 Dodson has conducted Bodysex Workshops, which she defines as "physical- and sexual-consciousness raising groups where women can creatively explore pleasure together."

The workshops evolved from Dodson's involvement with weekly consciousness-raising groups in the early '70s. "I became aware that sex was a key feminist issue," she recalls. "It could either enslave or liberate women. My feminist cause was equal orgasms for women."

Meeting in her home, Dodson has led thousands of women through the Bodysex Workshops. From her Manhattan apartment, she still conducts six to eight workshops a year, limiting enrollment to a maximum of 15 women. Relying only on word-of-mouth advertising, Dodson exposes women from around the country to specific rituals of selflove, including breathing exercises, group massage and "Genital Show and Tell." Each participant is encouraged, but not forced, to expose her genitalia to the group and relate her feelings about them.

During one of the early Bodysex Workshops, Dodson shared her fantasy of having a female circle jerk. Several women took to the idea at once and said, "Let's do it now!"

"It blew my mind! They were ready for group masturbation, and I wasn't. Then I reassured myself that we were all consenting adults and joined in."

During the early workshops, circle masturbation was optional. By the fifth year the exercise had become the "Guided Masturbation Ceremony" and was an important element of every group.

Although Dodson notes that many men and women still harbor serious hang-ups about masturbation, she feels attitudes toward the subject are opening up. Indicative of a trend toward tolerance, Harmony Books published Betty Dodson's latest book, Sex for One—the Joy of Selflove, in November of '87, complete with illustrations by the author.

"AIDS has caused people to think about sexual alternatives, and certainly masturbation is one. Once a person gets very comfortable making love to themselves with their hands, it's not such a big deal to make love to someone else with your hands," Dodson says. "The erotic handjob will soon be acknowledged as a fabulous form of sex."

The Rise of Touchtone Pimping

Telephone sex, a unique aid to masturbation that entered the sex scene in the early '80s, has been adding to the fortunes of AT&T as well as the various phone-sex operators.

"The beauty of this racket is that it's totally safe and legal," explains Sharon, who helps horny callers get their rocks off four or five nights a week. "I used to work for an escort service. The money was much better, but the burnout factor really caught up to me."

"We interrupt this program to bring you a special news bulletin:
No politicians were accused of any wrongdoing today!"

"Gee, Dad, you told me that when it came to sex, I should use my head!"

TURN-ONS OF 1988

"Every guy loves to hear me describe how big his cock is as I pretend I'm giving him a four-star blowjob."

Sharon's company charges $39 to the phone-sex john (prices for live phone sex usually range from $20 to $40) for a maximum 20 minutes of hot talk. Sharon only sees $7 per call, but she enjoys the creative aspects of her work and can make out all right on a high-volume shift.

"I can usually get my client off in about ten minutes. Almost every guy loves to hear me describe how big his cock is as I pretend I'm giving him a four-star blowjob. But the variety of fantasies that come across the line are limitless."

Sharon admits that her company experiences a high turnover of capable phone-sex operators. "Not just anyone can make a guy shoot his wad by talking dirty like this. One of the toughest parts is that no matter how boring a call gets (and let me tell you, the calls can get very boring), a girl can't let that boredom show in her voice. The guy should have the feeling that you've been sitting at home just waiting to hear from him. I've been at this game for nearly two years, and I guess I'm lucky, because the whole fantasy element still gives me a kick. I love to hear the guy coming on the phone. I even get off myself now and then, when a real sexy voice gets on the line."

Another type of phone sex, less personal but also much cheaper, has the customer dial a phone number printed under the photo of a semiclad woman only to hear about two minutes of a taped sensual soliloquy. The cost averages about two bucks.

The latest twist to the phone-sex game has caught on big in California—the party-line concept. After dialing the number, the lonely guy joins the line with other people for two minutes (at "$2 per call plus toll, if any"), hoping to get a lead on a hot party or date. Anyone who thinks he might possibly get laid through this system would be better off forming a snipe hunt on Santa Monica Beach some evening.

Don't Forget the Neighborhood Smut Shop

An informal survey of popular items among Los Angeles's dwindling number of adult-book stores indicates that video sales account for the major portion of their business.

"How much do you charge for enthusiasm?"

"There's such a glut of X-rated videos on the market that we've got titles starting at $9.99," according to a clerk in a Burbank porn shop. "The quality can be lousy, but that doesn't stop people from forking over the bucks."

"We've been moving a lot of French ticklers and the fancy ribbed condoms," offers Frank from his perch behind the raised counter of a Hollywood Boulevard bookstore. "In the magazine department, big-tit mags are always very popular. Plus, we've got all those 'milk maid' mags, you know, with pregnant women squirting milk out of their nipples. Those sell pretty fast also."

"The biggest change I've noticed in the past couple of years," Frank adds, "is a big increase in the number of couples who come in checking over the video selection. Shit, we might even have to clean this joint up soon."

Video Erotica: A Major Turn-On in the '80s

"I would never have gone to see an X-rated movie in a theater. Those places just seem too sleazy," explains Linda, a student at Cal State Northridge. "But I love to watch a good sex video at home with my boyfriend. We hardly ever watch the whole film, but they do give us ideas."

A lot of women are getting turned on by adult films these days, thanks to the discretion offered by the VCR in the bedroom. More women are also getting involved behind the camera, but few are as visible or successful as Candida Royalle, who, once a porn star herself, now writes and directs adult videos for Femme Productions, a company she formed with her husband and producer, Per Sjostedt.

Candida's approach to adult films differs greatly from the explicit styles of many male directors. "I try to emphasize everything around the intercourse rather than focusing right on the hard-core action. I feel that we need to learn more about sensuality and the wonderful buildup that leads to making love... the foreplay, the afterplay. My work focuses on that."

"Looking at cum-shots for years and years, and being subjected to them for years, was enough," Candida explains. "A man's orgasm is beautiful, but when you see it repeatedly, it becomes trite, overkill, unsexy. You watch a trailer for a hard-core movie, and some of them are just nonstop shots of these penises barely attached to a body spewing forth loads of cum. I don't understand who they're trying to appeal to. Men are always thanking me for leaving out the cum-shots. They'll say to me, 'I like to come inside a woman. I don't like to pull out.' So what makes di-

HUSTLER HUMOR

A man got drunk one night, went home and crawled into bed with his wife. Lying in bed, he let out a fart.

"What the hell was that?" his wife asked.

"I'm playing football," he said. "The score is 6-0."

His wife thought, Okay, you smart ass, I'll show you, and she let loose a fart of her own. "I'm playing too," she said. "The score's 6-6 now."

The man laughed and tried to work up a real blaster, but to his dismay, he shit in the bed instead.

"What the fuck was that?" his wife asked.

"Halftime," said her husband. "We change sides."

Two men in Ireland were digging a ditch, which happened to be directly across the street from a brothel. Suddenly they saw a Protestant minister walk up to the front door of the house of ill repute, look around, then go inside.

"Ah, will you look at that," said one ditchdigger to the other. "Begorrah, what is our world coming to when men of the cloth are visiting such places? Sure and it's shameful!"

A few minutes later a rabbi walked swiftly up to the door of the brothel and quietly slipped inside. "Do you believe what we're seeing here?" said one ditchdigger to the other. "Why, it's no wonder the young people of today are so confused, with the example the clergymen are setting for them. It's a disgrace!"

Next, a Catholic priest quickly entered the whorehouse. "Ah, what a pity," said the ditchdigger to his buddy. "One of the poor girls must be dying."

The HUSTLER dictionary defines a booger as: a Polish refrigerator magnet.

An affluent couple were dressing to go out for dinner. The wife had been acting strangely silent all week. As the husband walked out of the bathroom, straightening his tie, he was startled to see his shapely wife sitting at her dressing table, adjusting her big tits into a sexy push-up black bra. Enthused, he rushed up behind her and grabbed her overflowing breasts, "Oh, honey, that looks so sexy! Is it new?!"

"Yes," she said, slapping his hands away. "I found it in your glove compartment!"

A young single guy struck up a conversation with a gorgeous, sexy girl at the bar of a crowded singles club. He bought her drinks during two hours that were filled with exciting flirting and suggestive conversation. Finally, he just leaned in close and whispered, "How do you feel about fellatio?"

"I love to suck a big, hard cock," she said, looking deeply into his eyes.

The fellow could feel the sweat break out on his forehead. "Do you swallow?" he ventured.

"Ooo, I never waste a delicious drop," she murmured.

"How about anal sex?!" he said excitedly.

"Oh, yes, getting it up the ass is my favorite!" she cooed.

The violent stirring in his pants urged the fellow on: "What else do you like?!"

"Three hundred and fifty bucks . . . up-front."

Question: Did you hear about the eleventh commandment that Tammy Faye laid down for Jim?

Answer: Thou shalt not put thy rod in thy staff.

A dumb but handsome stud picked up a sexy chick at a trendy singles bar, and they soon found themselves at his apartment. They kissed madly while tearing off each other's clothes. It wasn't long before they were wrapped in a passionate, naked embrace. The girl grabbed his giant bone and fell back, spreading her legs. "I hope you don't think I'm too kinky," she gasped, "but I want you to hurt me, I mean really hurt me!"

The fellow hesitated for a moment, then said, "Okay. Your tits are ugly, and your cunt stinks!"

A lady was on the bus with her baby when a drunk staggered in front of the woman, looked down and said, "Lady, that is the ugliest baby I've ever seen." The woman started crying, and everyone on the bus wanted to kick the drunk off. They made such a big fuss that the bus driver pulled over and stopped and the drunk rushed out.

The driver went to the back of the bus and asked, "What seems to be the matter?"

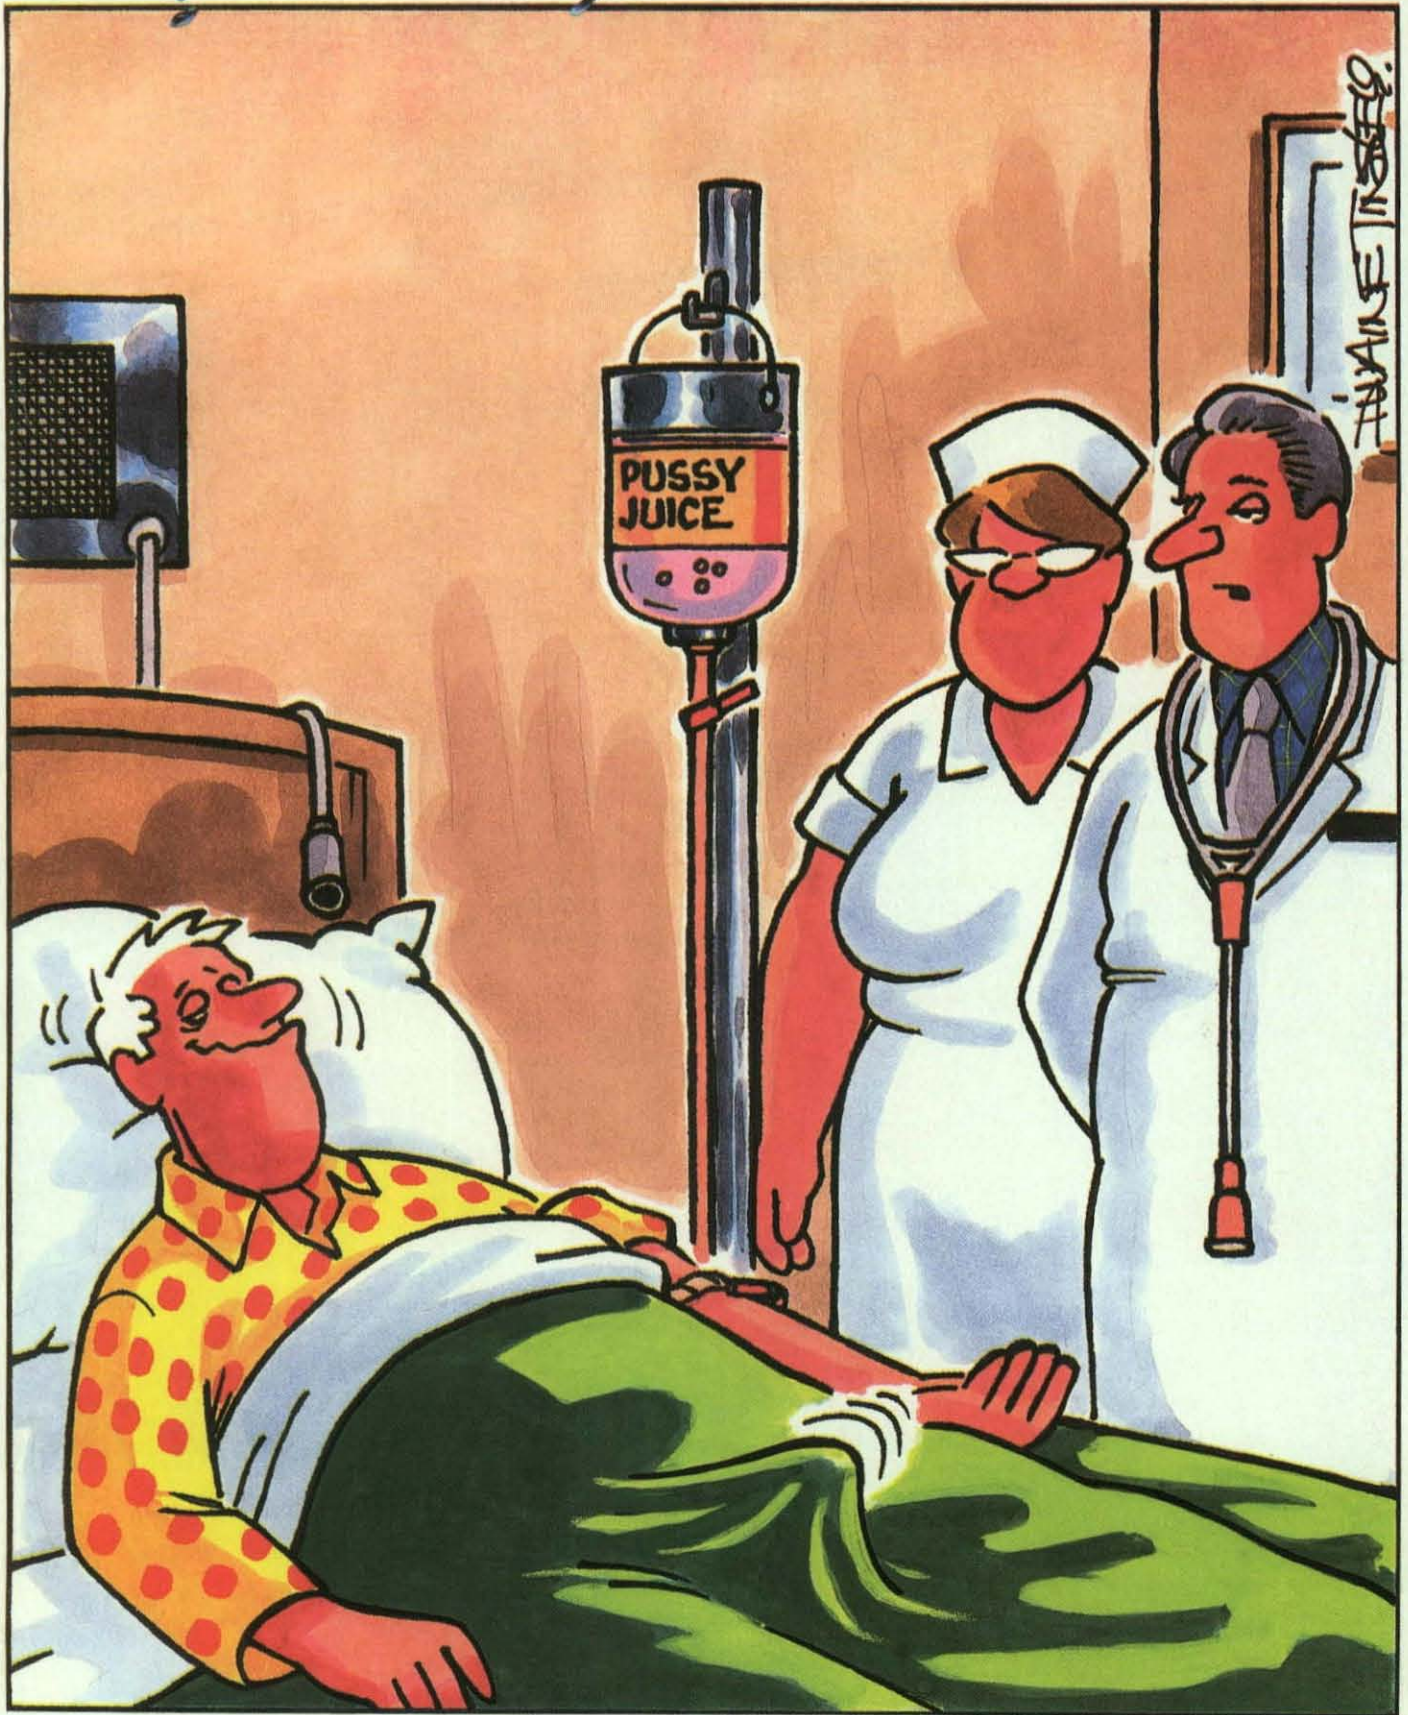

The woman was crying so hard, she couldn't speak.

"Look, I don't know what he said to you," said the driver, "but I'm going to get you a cup of tea to calm you down." He got off the bus, went into a cafe, then came back with the tea. "Calm down," said the driver. "Everything's fine now. See? I bought you this cup of tea, and I also brought a banana for your pet monkey."

THREAT TO PRIVACY?

NEW TECHNOLOGY MAKES IT EASIER TO EFFICIENTLY OPERATE OUR BUREAUCRACY, AS WELL AS EASIER TO INVAD OR EXPOSE OUR PRIVATE LIVES. WHAT NEW PROTECTIONS DO WE NEED?

Fred Collins (not his real name) could not believe how his luck had changed. On welfare for two years, he had finally found a job as a clerk with a federal-government agency in Washington, D.C. As any good citizen would, Fred notified the welfare department of his new status. But a bureaucrat forgot to punch the information into the department's computer system, and Fred continued to receive welfare checks.

Hard-pressed for cash, Fred wrestled with his conscience. What should he do, notify the welfare department of its error or keep quiet and cash the checks? Still the good citizen, Collins went back to the welfare department and pointed out the mistake, to no avail. Fred continued to receive monthly checks.

Eventually finding the temptation too great, Fred cashed the checks to help pay off doctor bills he'd piled up while taking cobalt treatment for cancer—incidentally, that happened at the time he began legitimately collecting welfare. Unfortunately for Fred, the federal government did a computer match, linking his employment and welfare records. He was indicted for fraud on a felony charge.

By Ron Chepesiuk

COMPUTER MATCHING

Through computer matching, our government can get an accurate picture of our habits, political beliefs, etc.

When Fred went before the court and explained the situation, a sympathetic judge dismissed his case. Before his trial, however, a newspaper published his name in an article describing the "successful" results of the government's use of computer matching to expose fraud.

Fred Collins' embarrassing tangle with the law illustrates only one potential threat that computer matching, one of the federal government's most widely used techniques for monitoring the activities of American citizens, can pose for civil liberties. Computer matching is the comparison of two or more computerized record systems to search for individuals who appear in more than one of them. In Fred Collins' case, the process involved the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) checking its records against those of the IRS, ostensibly in an effort to detect welfare cheats.

The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) says computer matching is widespread and growing. "Over the past five years, federal computer-matching programs, involving about 2 million different records, have tripled in number," explains Jan Goldman, a staff attorney for the ACLU's Privacy and Technology Project. "The federal government has made it a routine practice."

The 1974 federal Privacy Act requires the Federal Register to describe every system of records kept on individuals. More than 4,000 have turned up, 20% of which are automated. Five volumes are needed for explanations, including how a person can obtain copies of his or her records. Some agencies, of course, are exempt from disclosure requirements.

This situation worries civil libertarians such as Goldman, who see the revolution in communications and computer technology as a double-edged sword. "The use of computers may be essential to the government's efficient operation," Goldman avers, "but it has greatly magnified the threat to privacy that can occur from the collection, maintenance, use and dissemination of personal information."

Laughlin McDonald, southern regional director of the ACLU, adds, "The technique of computer matching raises a host of important constitutional issues regarding the right against self-incrimination, the presumption of innocence, Fourth Amendment protections against unreasonable search and seizure, and the right of privacy."

Computer matching is part of a trend that's leading to what one observer describes as a "dossier society," creating concern that Big Brother may already be manipulating the American population.

The federal government maintains an average of 15 files on each American. At the state and local levels, bureaucrats rely heavily on computers to track citizens. A study by New York state's Committee on Open Government in 1981 found that New York state agencies operated 1,776 separate data systems containing 10,788 categories of records about New Yorkers. Each system contained between 2 million and 10 million records.

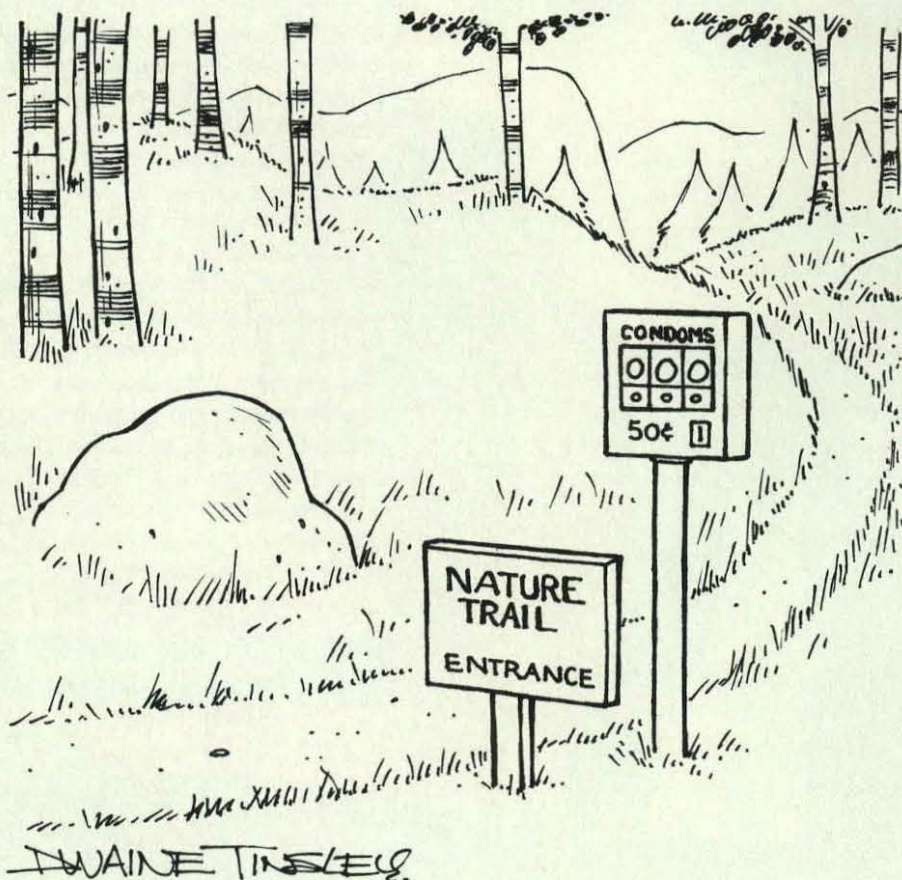

Private-sector retail credit bureaus maintain files on more than 150 million Americans and swap the information contained in those files among themselves. Add to this the volume and variety of records kept by telephone companies, insurance agencies, medical centers and other organizations, both public and private, and it's easy to see that the federal or state government, as well as many corporate bodies, can get a fairly complete and accurate picture of our habits, associations, lifestyle and political beliefs.

Computer matching was born on November 9, 1977, when Joseph Califano, secretary of what was then the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), announced the birth of Project Match. In an effort to eliminate from welfare rolls anyone who was working for the federal government, federal investigators programmed a computer to compare two huge sets of records, one a list of welfare recipients and the other a list containing information supplied by the federal employees at the time of their hiring.

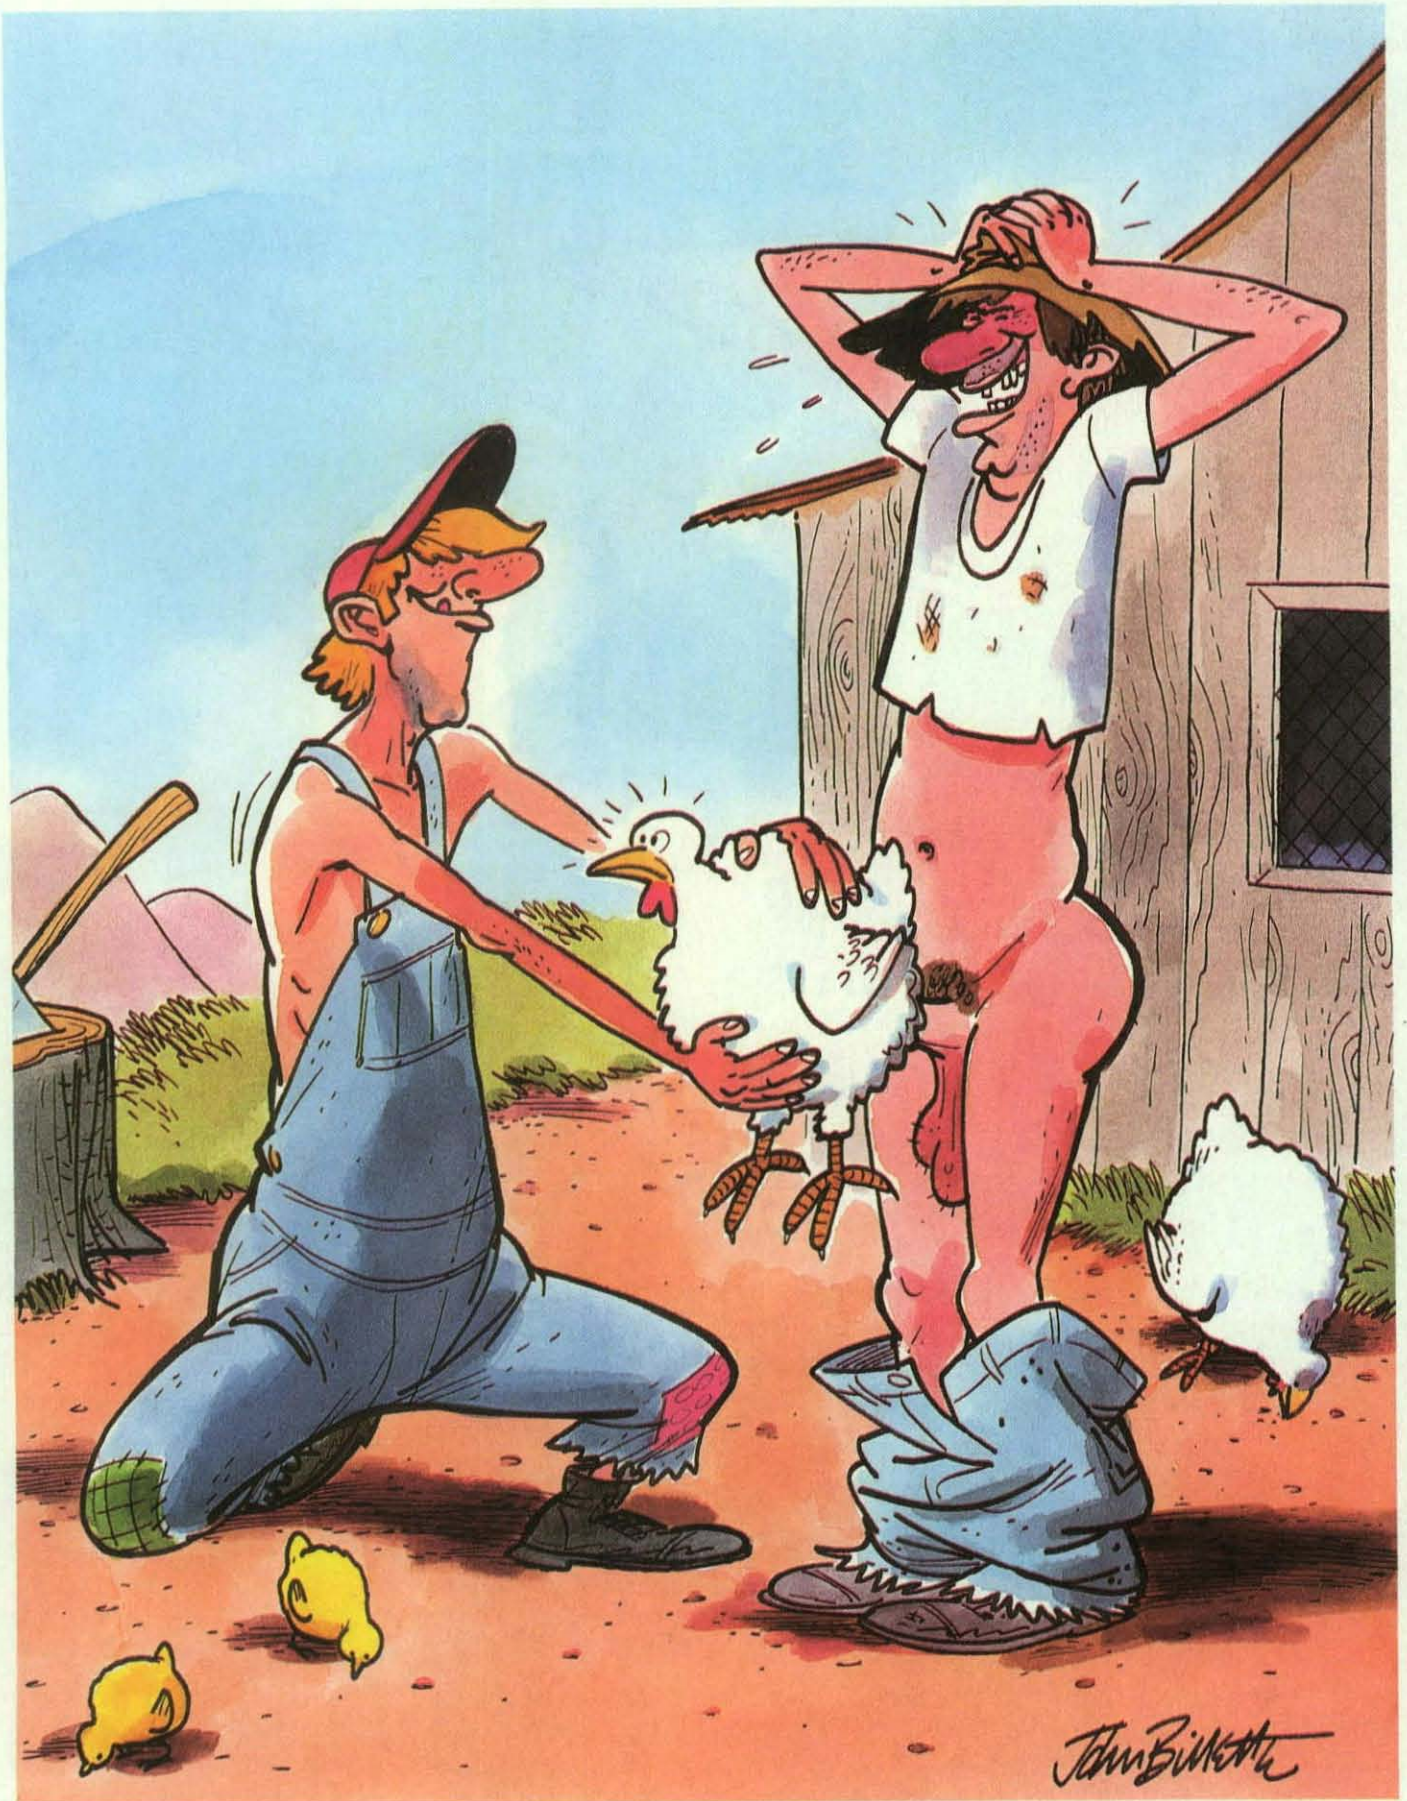

At a press conference in September 1978, Califano released the names of 15 employees who had been indicted on charges of welfare fraud based on the findings of Project Match. One of the alleged cheaters was Fred Collins.

The ACLU in turn investigated the government's innovative computer method of finding welfare cheats. Tracking down all 15 employees to hear their side of the story, the ACLU learned that of the 15 cases, five were dismissed (including Fred Collins), four pleaded guilty to misdemeanors (theft under $30) and six pleaded guilty to felonies. The federal judges refused to levy any prison sentence and ordered a total repayment of less than $2,000. Considering how much money the government must have spent to conduct the hunt, Project Match proved to be more hype than result.

You and I do not have a chance to look at or correct information in files the government may have on us.

More importantly, Project Match raised questions about computer matching and its implications for privacy and constitutional rights that are still hotly debated today. Congress enacted the 1974 Privacy Act to resolve the tension between the need to protect the individual's privacy and the need of the government to collect and use information. The law prohibits the use or disclosure of government records, without prior consent of the individual involved, for purposes other than that for which the data was collected. Yet, the federal government has established more than 300 programs to compare information from more than two sources. Congress placed a loophole in the Privacy Act that provides for the disclosure of a record if disclosure is for routine use, defined as "the use of a record for a purpose that is compatible with the purpose for which it was collected."

This exemption provides the government's major justification for computer matching. Doctor Don Marchand, director of the Institute of Information Management at the University of South Carolina, explains, "Routine use is so broadly defined that one agency can label anything as subject to routine use. The question is: Have agencies infringed upon people's privacy by applying routine use? I believe that, in applying routine use, the individual's privacy protection may have been stretched in some cases."

Other experts are less willing to give the government the benefit of the doubt. The ACLU's Goldman says, "The Privacy Act did have some protections for the individual's privacy. But I think the government, in its zeal to apply routine use, has misread and misinterpreted the statute."

Several cases support the claim of civil libertarians that the government has stretched or even abused the routine-use provision of the Privacy Act. Consider these examples:

◆ Under the Federal Privacy Act, the IRS must notify you to obtain your consent before releasing information about you to another agency. Yet, the IRS furnishes the Social Security Administration with copies of W-2 forms reporting wages of Americans under age 70, which can then be used to determine if their wages were under the ceiling.

◆ The Selective Service cross-checks draft registration lists with social security and motor-vehicle registration records to catch young men who have failed to register. Further, to identify people for the draft, data from the IRS, the Defense Department and the Selective Service were matched, in effect creating a large national data base.

◆ In the early '80s the federal Immigration and Naturalization Service sought access to the New York City Board of Education computerized files of 1 million students. The purpose: to facilitate an investigation of Spanish surname households in order to locate illegal aliens.

With little thought for the implications of computer matching for the average citizen's rights, the Reagan Administration has drafted and revised federal guidelines to facilitate computer matching and leave discretion to use the process to individual agencies. Many sources decry the lack of balance the Reagan Administration has brought to the computer matching versus privacy issue. As Doctor Ken Laudon, an associate professor of information systems at New York University, charges, "The Reagan Administration has made no policy initiatives to protect the individual's privacy. To the contrary, at every opportunity it has pursued a policy begun with the Carter Administration—to use information almost exclusively in the general interest of the government."

Independently, Congress has also passed several laws establishing various matching programs. This includes the Deficit Reduction Act of 1984, which authorized the matching of several different data files maintained for many welfare programs and opened IRS records for this purpose. The IRS code says tax returns "should be confidential," then follows this noble pronouncement with 16 pages listing those who can examine your returns under prescribed rules.

What worries many civil libertarians and information specialists is that you and I do not have a chance to look at or correct information in files the government may have on us. The way the law is interpreted now, the government can satisfy "notice" by simply publishing the existence of a data-matching program in the Federal Register.

The ACLU believes this situation is inadequate. Goldman explains, "People have a right to correct information in government files, but how many people read or even know about the Federal Register?"

And even if an individual wants to do something about correcting information in government files, the cost can be prohibitive. As Ben Stutts, a computer-service manager, points out, "If the government screws up, it can cost you a fortune to straighten out the error. But the government doesn't have to do anything to make the money up to you."

It's a safe bet that there will be an error in one of the files our government has on you, or some of the information will be ambiguous or incomplete. Stutts explains, "All computers do is process numbers quickly, and they certainly make a lot of mistakes because the human element is involved. I would bet that 80% of all record files kept on people have errors in them."

Stutts' estimate of a high-error rate in computer files kept on Americans is backed up by the extensive research of Dr. Ken Laudon. Laudon spent more than a year inspecting FBI files and talking to more than 100 government law-enforcement officials to gather information for his book The Dossier Society. He examined FBI records of state criminal cases and found errors of up to 75%.

Government sources admit there are errors in computer files, but feel that the problem is offset by the efficiency created and the tax dollars saved through computer matching. One federal Office of Management and Budget (OMB) official says, "Wrong information in some files is a problem, but when you have huge benefit programs, you have to be sure there's a mechanism to ensure that people who are eligible get aboard. I think computer matching fits that role."

Mary Gerwin, minority staff director of Congress's Oversight of Management Committee, agrees: "The government needs to use computer matching mainly because of the volume of files that are available for government purposes. The way to achieve a balance is to put in enough safeguards to make sure computer matching is not abused. We don't want to go back to the point where the government is handicapped by not being able to use technology."

The ACLU counters that it is not calling for a ban on computer matching. Efficiency and cost effectiveness are important, they contend, but not at the expense of confidentiality and privacy. "We can have both," spokesman Goldman maintains. "The ACLU is saying that if the government is going to use computer matching, it must follow certain guidelines and regulations, which should be monitored and supervised."

Despite the controversy, the Reagan Administration has expanded its use of computers. In February 1986 the OMB published guidelines requiring the states to establish "income verification programs" by the following September. The program enables social workers to check social security wage records, IRA documents on unearned incomes and state employment-insurance records. The process is part of a continuing White House campaign to reduce fraud in federal welfare programs by requiring states to investigate the background of applicants before adding them to federal benefit rolls. Many states are complying with the regulations. OMB director James Miller predicts that the new verification program will save taxpayers $375 million.

The savings don't impress civil libertarians such as Jan Goldman, who worry that the federal government is setting up a national data base, allowing it and the individual states to exchange information and have access to the records of all Americans, not just those applying for welfare.

One OMB official counters, "There are two responses to that concern. The first is: So what? The second is: Before one gets too excited about the advent of Big Brother, he has to look at how the government functions. Will the government want all the information in a single data base? The answer is, certainly not. The government operates discrete programs and only needs information relevant to what it is involved with."

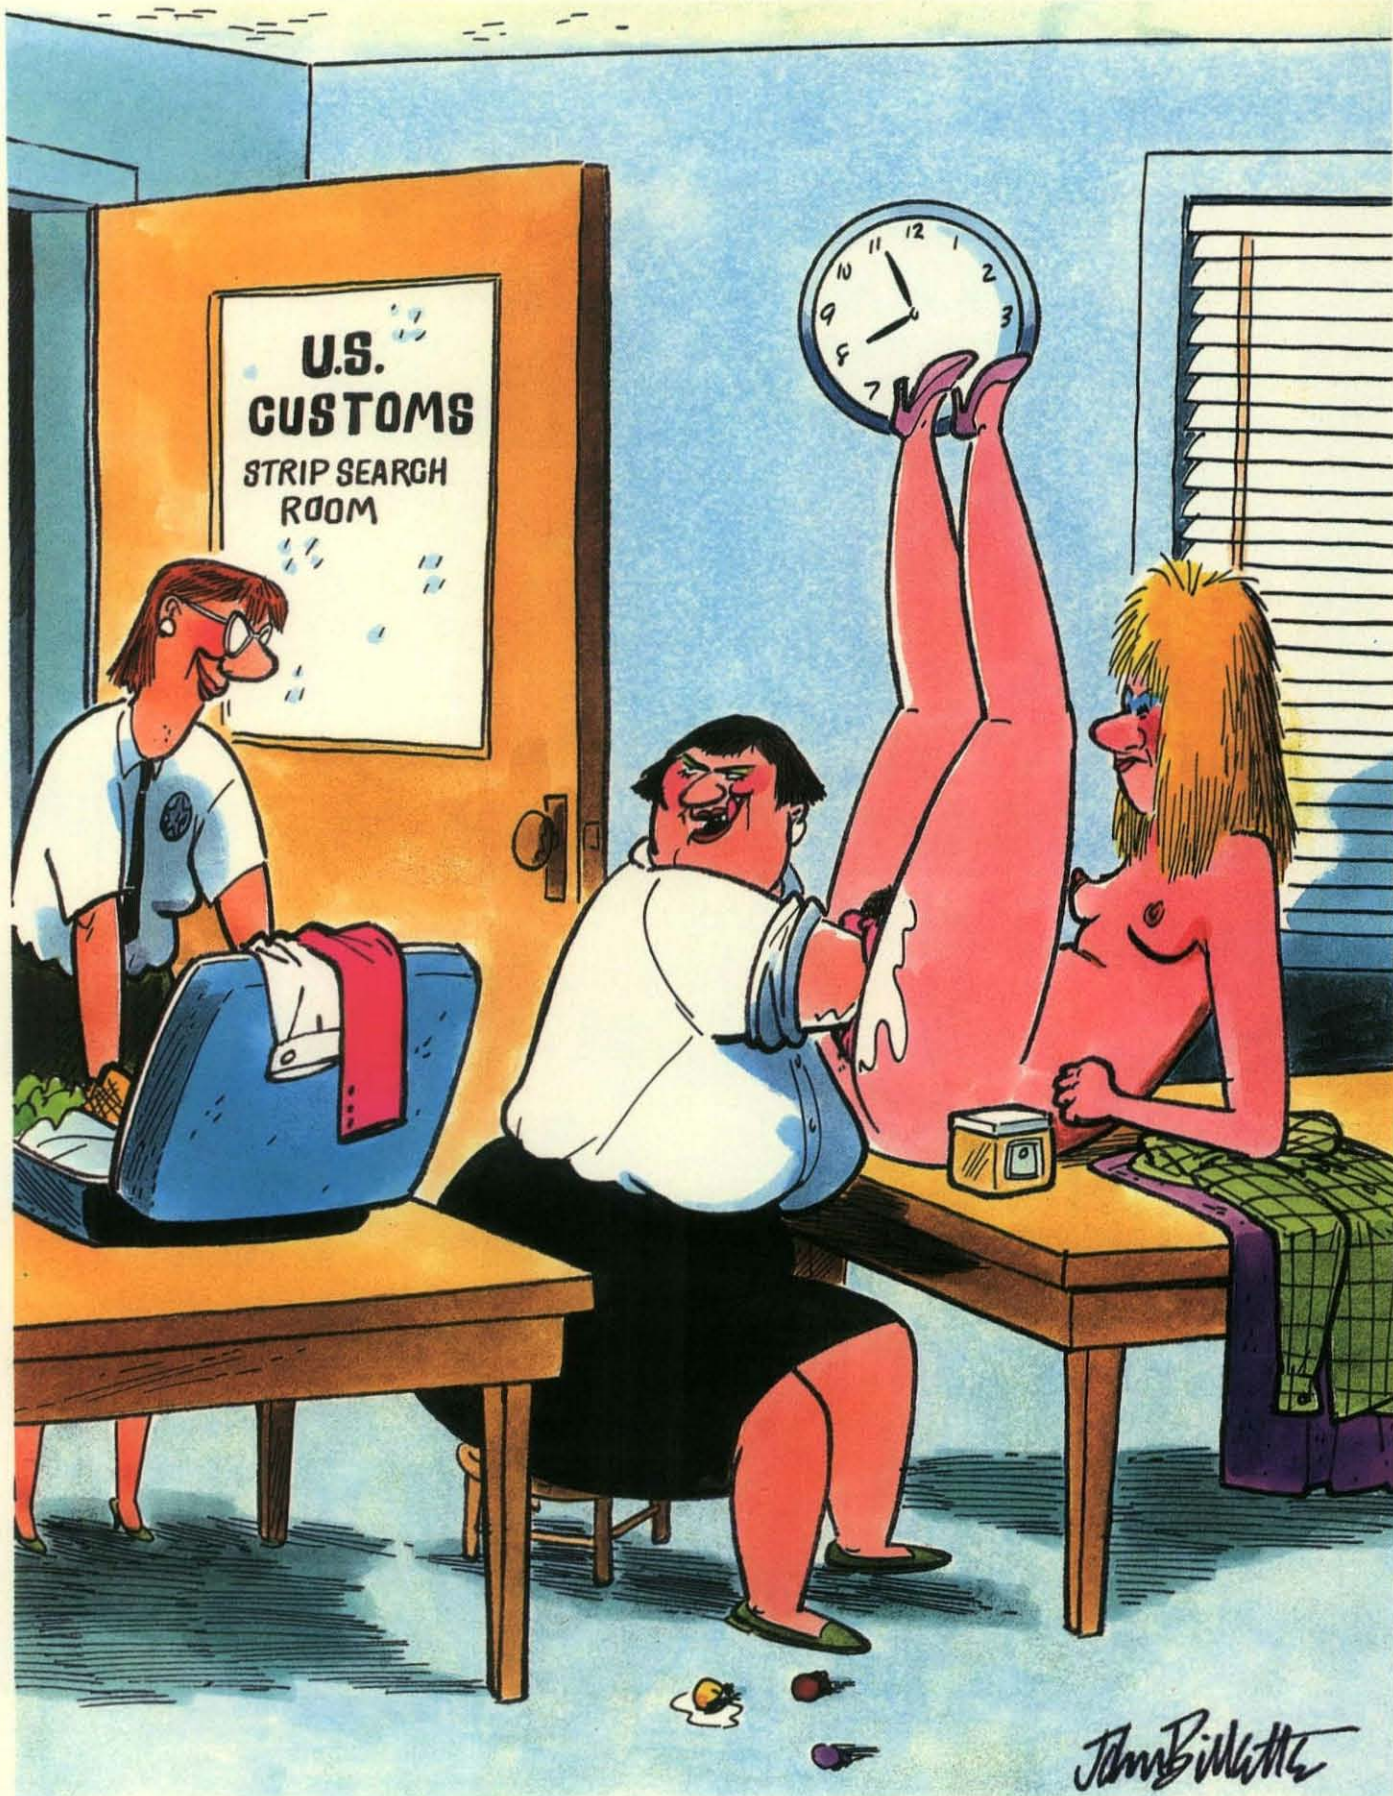

The ACLU, however, says that the new verification program, known as front-end verification, represents a very difficult civil-liberties issue. "The verification is done at the front end, and so the Fourth Amendment [unreasonable search and seizure] doesn't apply," explains Goldman. "What front-end verification presupposes is that, if you have nothing to hide, you should be willing to give information to the government. It is a presumption that you are guilty until you prove yourself innocent."

Regarding the OMB's pooh-poohing of civil libertarians' concerns, Goldman states: "Whether the federal government is willing to admit it or not, by requiring the uniform keeping of records at the state and local levels, it is creating a de facto data base of information on all Americans. It will be tempting for the government to use that information." To make her point, Goldman cites past instances when the Army kept a data base filled with information on individuals it believed to be involved with subversive political activity.

"The Privacy Act was drafted in the mid '70s to deal with systems built in the '60s. Here we are in the '80s."

Furthermore, the office of the presidency once (that we know of) used IRS records to harass political opponents.

Congress is beginning to share civil libertarians' concern about the threat of computer matching and front-end verification to the privacy of Americans. The Office of Technology Assessment (OTA), a nonpartisan research arm of Congress, released a report last year titled "Electronic Surveillance and Civil Liberties." It found government data bases containing private information on every citizen. Findings also show that the data bases are increasingly being linked, giving rise to the fear that a national data base is being established.

The OTA report provides some statistics with disturbing implications for the privacy of Americans. The OTA found that about 40% of the federal agencies had not conducted security-risk analyses studies of their computer systems in the past five years, as required by law; that some 75% of federal agencies do not have explicit security policies for microcomputers; and that a quarter of the government agencies surveyed did not screen employees who had access to computers.

The report was highly critical of the OMB, an agency responsible for overseeing the government's use of computers and ensuring the privacy of all Americans.

"It's a garbage report," an OMB official complains. "It was very quickly done. The OTA did only a half-hour interview with me and followed up their visit with a lengthy questionnaire. You know how many people take the time to fill out those questionnaires carefully?"

But some key members of Congress take very seriously the OTA charge that the OMB is insufficiently monitoring the government's intrusion into the privacy of Americans. Senators William Cohen (R-Maine) and Carl Levin (D-Michigan) have introduced a bill (S496) that they hope will become the Computer Matching and Privacy Act. Introduced as an amendment to the 1974 federal Privacy Act, the law would regulate and limit computer matching and front-end verification of individual records, requiring government agencies to follow due process and privacy procedures.

Mary Gerwin explains, "It [the proposed law] says that no federal agency can reduce, deny or suspend any government benefit or take any other adverse action solely on the basis of a computer-match result. The government will have to take an extra step in verifying the accuracy of computer-matching information through a third source. The individual will also have to be notified if a match has occurred, and has to be given a hearing to refuse any adverse information by the government before the benefits are terminated."

Many civil libertarians and information specialists believe the legislation doesn't go far enough. Sources say that the legal regulations of the federal Privacy Act have been largely outmoded in the new computer age. Doctor Ken Laudon puts it bluntly: "The Privacy Act was drafted in the mid '70s to deal with [computer] systems built in the '60s. Here we are in the '80s. It's ridiculous!"

Doctor Laudon proposes the establishment of a Privacy Commission, a congressional remedy to the problem of privacy. "That a privacy protection organization—a commission—should be established is in the opinion of nearly every responsible expert in the country. It would be a permanent federal agency that could act as an omnibusman on one hand and, on the other, as a center for studies about the government's use of computers and its implications for the privacy of American citizens. The commission should jointly be empowered by the Senate and the House and not be captured by the President. The problem right now is that privacy protection depends a lot on what the President thinks it should be, because the responsibility for oversight is at the OMB, and Congress really can't control the OMB. A commission would have to get its money from Congress and have to testify before it."

Government sources, however, believe that the time is not ripe on Capitol Hill to push for any more federal agencies. "Besides," says Mary Gerwin, "a lot of power would have to be given to the commission, and I think that would slow down the work of government."

Can you or I really do anything to protect our privacy in the computer age? Most experts are pessimistic. However, Robert Ellis Smith, author of Your Privacy: How to Protect What's Left of It, suggests, "Be aware that you can have access to information that the government has on you. Be cautious about the information you give up about yourself. Fill out forms with caution, especially ones sent through the mail. If you do give up personal information, make sure it's more general than specific. Above all, try your best to make sure the information the government keeps on you is accurate. If you don't, the information may come back to haunt you."

has become the source of such pervasive fear because it is a disease that is transmitted largely by sexual contact. The sexual aspect of the disease feeds into the puritanical and uncomfortable attitudes that many Americans hold toward eroticism. And, the power structure has used it to divert our attention from the arsenal of serious problems that afflict this nation. As Gore Vidal says, "Sex is politics. The sexual mores of a society are the result of political decisions. Not vice versa. You enslave people through prohibitions, preferably based on religion. Sexual guilt among the population is a good thing for those who rule. That, of course, doesn't mean the rulers take seriously what they impose on the ruled."

AIDS certainly lends itself to a divide-and-conquer strategy. It will pit major groups in the society against each other. The homosexual victims of AIDS find themselves isolated and discriminated against by a heterosexual majority. Racial minorities, such as blacks and Hispanics, have long used drugs as a form of coping with their systematic exclusion from mainstream society. Now they face a choice of early death from drug overdoses or AIDS.

The issue of color in some nations has already been raised, as many countries have singled out Africans as a target of immigration restrictions and mandatory testing procedures. In this country, the concentration of AIDS in the highly visible black and Hispanic population only adds to racial polarization. Add to those divisions the impending conflict between men and women. The age-old battle of the sexes between male desires for sexual variety and female wishes for the sexual monogamy takes on another dimension with the AIDS hysteria. With women acting as the primary enforcers of safe-sex practices, this gender conflict may be played out in bedrooms across America.

As true of other media-inspired hysteria, such as herpes, toxic shock and crack, AIDS will eventually take a lower profile because of media burnout. Rarely can interest in a big story sustain itself for long. The herd instinct of the media for focusing on one story to the exclusion of everything else has a history of dissipating. How long will it be before the great white, middle-class heterosexuals of America realize that AIDS has not touched any members of their group? A drive as powerful as sex cannot be subjugated by a media-inspired campaign of fear and alarm based on numbers that are a fraction of long-standing disease statistics. Hopefully, the time will soon come when sexuality is an affirmation of life and not the symbol of a fatal disease that divides us all. ☹

rectors think they should use them in a movie?"

Regarding sexual trends for 1988, Candida offers this forecast: "What I hope is going to happen might come about as a response to the AIDS crisis. I think people will be courting more, seeing each other before they have sex. Also, in their sex lives, I think they're going to be more creative and explore new things. One negative result of the sexual revolution was that it took away the whole buildup, the courtship, the mystery—that tension of, 'Am I ever going to make love to this person or not?'"

Stag Party Pleasures

"I'd heard of things like that happening and read about it a few times, but I didn't think I'd ever get to see it myself. We were just having a typical bachelor bash for my friend Ted... you know, with lots of beer, some X-rated videos and the general amount of bullshit. Late in the party, when everyone had got pretty well tanked, this short, wiry black guy shows up with a wild blonde. He introduces her as the White Tornado, and someone cues up her music. She goes into a pretty standard striptease, but then, after she gets naked, she dances over to Ted, zips down his fly and gives him a very energetic blowjob. Afterwards, she started working the rest of the room, taking guys into the back room and sucking them off at $25 per shot. She definitely made it a stag party to remember."

That scene took place in a small town near Omaha, Nebraska. Live strippers at stag parties are certainly as old a turn-on as the stag ritual itself, but these days the talent is often willing to perform extra duties for extra pay.

Los Angeles's numerous sex tabloids, such as the Hollywood Press and the L.A. Star, carry several "bachelor party girl" ads each week. Greg, the entertainment chairman for his brother Lee's stag party, relates this story: "We booked a male/female act from a party agency in Santa Monica. I got the number out of the L.A. Reader, in fact. Well, it cost a few bucks, but that pair put on a great live-sex show after the stripping was out of the way. I hope someone makes an effort to arrange that extra touch of raunch when my stag party rolls around."

New trends in sexual turn-ons are as unlimited as the human imagination. So before you invest in a set of full-body condoms and before you give up all hope of ever finding yourself engaged in the missionary position again, take some time to trust your imagination. It might just steer you through (or into) a tight spot. ☹

WHY RENT WHEN YOU CAN BUY?

If you're wondering how we can sell genuine hardcore videotapes for such low prices here's why. We are one of the Midwest's largest manufacturers and duplicators of videotapes. That's right - we've completely cut out the middleman and have reduced our cost to the bare bone, but have maintained the highest standards of quality in the process. What this means to you is factory direct prices that just can't be beat. We've made special arrangements with several leading hardcore film producers to assemble the hottest, horniest video collection featuring the most famous adult stars doing everything from cocksucking to ass-banging and titfucking to cumsucking. You'll marvel as you watch hour after hour of the most incredible fuckin' and suckin' ever! Each tape comes individually shrink-wrapped in their own box with our unique satisfaction guarantee.

Why are we selling these for so little? We are the largest manufacturer of blank video tape and video tape duplication. We've also acquired exclusive rights to promote these new titles directly to the consumer, and because we are the manufacturer, you pay only for the cost of the blank tape and duplication cost—the programming is free, just so you can see the great movies we have to offer. So join our growing list of satisfied customers and order now! And here's our guarantee! Every video listed is guaranteed a Brand New legal tape and top quality, 100% hardcore in full color and sync sound or your money back! So, if you've been burned by those California companies that send you brochures instead of your order, then you'll rejoice in our Hassle Free Guaranteed Delivery Policy!

ATTENTION: VIDEO COLLECTORS!

A Public Announcement from Marvell-Mead Video Prod.

90 MINUTE XXX-RATED HARDCORE!!

ONLY $395 EACH

(This Is Not a Misprint)

AS PART OF A MOST UNUSUAL PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN, Marvell-Mead Video Prod. is making available a limited number of its NEWEST, UNRELEASED XXX-rated hard-core erotica for only $3.95 each. They are being offered prior to theater distribution and are the LATEST, PRE-PRODUCTION, PRE-RELEASE video treatments of the hottest, most sexually explicit screen stories ever slated for the X-rated market—written & conceived for the biggest name stars in the tradition of Seka, John Holmes, and Marilyn Chambers.

THESE ARE NOT THOSE SLICED TOGETHER video treatments with a hodge-podge of incomplete bits and pieces. These are complete 90 minute stories from start to finish. Each is separate and individually packaged. WE CERTIFY THAT NO MATTER WHAT THE GOVERNMENT MAKES US DO TO CENSOR THEM PRIOR TO DISTRIBUTION, WHAT YOU GET WILL BE THE ORIGINAL UNCUT SCRIPT AS IT WAS MEANT TO BE ENJOYED.

HOW CAN WE MAKE THIS OFFER AT THIS PRICE? It's simple—for 2 reasons. First, we're betting that the excitement generated by this campaign will pay off later—with huge box-office receipts and runaway video sales. Secondly, we're able to keep our processing costs down by requiring that you order either a set of 6 (at $3.95 each) for only $23.70, a set of 12 (at $3.95 each) for only $47.40, or all 20 selections (at $3.95 each) for only $79, which entitles you to A FABULOUS FREE GIFT: A $99.00 VIDEOTAPE SPECTACULAR, READ DETAILS!!

BUT THERE IS A CATCH—All we ask in return for making this adult entertainment available to you is that you fill out & return the questionnaire you'll be receiving with your order. (It needn't be signed.) Your responses to our questions will be a tremendous help to us in producing X-rated pictures the public will want. In fact, your response is the whole aim of this campaign. The more selections you review the more valuable your input becomes. Therefore, to encourage you to review as many selections as possible, we are going to offer an additional bonus.

FREE-FREE If you order all 20 selections, you will receive, ABSOLUTELY FREE, the "California Sex Spectacular," our collector's edition video-tape of the Best of Sex, featuring no less than 25 of your favorite stars in the wildest, hottest action you'll ever see. Sold nationally for $99, but yours FREE for ordering all 20.

FREE TICKETS—For each title you order, you'll receive FREE Souvenir Tickets for two to the local theater premiere.

CHOOSE FROM THESE SELECTIONS IN THIS APPLICATION/SURVEY FORM
You MUST fill out & return this application form along with the entire ad to be eligible for this offer.

These XXX film treatments were written & conceived for big-name casts in the tradition of stars like these.

1. "JAMMING IT"—Wild female rock group that excels on the "skin flute"! Seka, John Holmes.
2. "FAST & FURIOUS"—Marilyn Chambers—stock-car racer with lust in high gear!
3. "CHERRY ORCHARD GIRLS"—2 city girls get cherries plucked on farm! Anna Ventura, Pia Snow.
4. "ONE FOOT FROM HEAVEN"—12-inch candle turns teacher into a slut! Jessie St. James.
5. "SLIPPERY WHEN WET"—Lisa De Leeuw & Rhonda Jo Petty as female mud wrestlers!

6. "LET ME SHOW YOU HOW"—Bridget Monet, private masseuse who massages "love muscles"!
7. "TIGHT SITUATIONS"—2 sexy girls compete for "tightest fit" prize! Annette Haven, Oral Annie.
8. "ALL THE WAY UP"—Swinger's club located in elevator of high-rise! Veronica Hart, Eric Edwards.
9. "DEEP INSIDE TRIXXI"—Porn's hottest new star—up close & personal! Trixi Lane, Harry Reems.
10. "FREQUENCY GIRLS"—Female DJ's play rock—crazy for cock! Crystal Waters, Heather Wayne.
11. "THE ROD SQUAD"—Sexy private-eyes with wide-open thighs! Amber Lynn, Marc Wallace.
12. "PEACHES 'N' CREME"—Beautiful coed screws her way through college! Erica Boyer.
13. "GOING DOWN"—World's hottest porno stars featured in cum-spurting oral sex! Trixi Lane, Seka.
14. "LOVE CLONES"—Mad scientist creates ideal woman: obedient, cock-starved! Tiffany Clark.
15. "CATERED AFFAIRS"—Unique deli caters to satisfying sexual appetites! Ron Jeremy, Kari Fox.
16. "HEAD NURSE"—Cock-hungry nurses at "Genital Hospital"! Amber Hunt.
17. "WET SOCKETS"—Horny female electricians create sexual sparks! Jessica Woods, Joey Silvera.
18. "NIGHT KISSES"—Candy store by day, a whorehouse by night! Joanna Storm, Peter North.
19. "A TASTE OF GINGER"—Ginger Lynn at her hottest & wettest! Tom Byron, Kevin James.
20. "TRIPLE PENETRATION"—Porno superstars pleasing 3 men at once! Trixi Lane, Ginger Lynn.

HUSTLER

April edition on sale February 16, 1988

WOMEN IN HEAT

April showers us with pink petals as HUSTLER displays its usual inspiring poon parade. Our sultry centerfold literally busts out of her threads to make sure her tan—and your eyes—cover every inch of her body. Reach for your paddle, and join two hardy harlots on a carnal canoe trip that will definitely rock your boat. You'll work your flaccid flesh into rock-hard meat when a bodybuilding couple pump it up and a lingerie lass opens her lacy envelope.

COME BLOW YOUR HORN

Perhaps the best experimentation is practicing ways to have tremendous climaxes. Doctor Herbert Otto shares his "Shooting for the Stars," a guide to better orgasms, so that when you blow all your wad in one place, you'll be a buck well spent.

A LINGERING BEEF

Cattle and dairy farmers in Michigan are still feeling the ill effects of a contamination of livestock by the chemical PBB. In next month's "PBB Cattlegate," Jeff Jackson rips to the heart of one of our nation's most fatal—and downplayed—scandals.

SOUTH AMERICAN SNOW JOB

For years, Carlos "Crazy Charly" Lehder used his vast cocaine fortune and private army to intimidate Colombian and neighboring governments. The once-arrogant killer now stands trial in Miami. Ron Chepesiuk details the inside story of Lehder's rise and inevitable fall in "Cutting Up With Crazy Charly."
